Baldrige Damage Case Continued until Dec. 4

Trial of the $150,000 damage action of Marie Patrick, administratrix of the estate of Irvin J. Patrick, vs. George Baldrige has been continued from Oct. 15 to Dec. 4, upon motion of the defense.

Mrs. Patrick brought the action after her husband, a state game warden, was killed by a gun in the hands of Baldrige while the officer was discharging his duty as a game protector.

There are three reasons set forth in the motion why the case should be continued.

First—that the criminal case against Baldrige, still pending in the Court of Appeals, contains certain questions that have a bearing on the present case.

Second—the defendant, Baldrige, has a large corn crop and trial in the midst of corn harvest would work a hardship on him.

Third—that Vernon L. Young, new member of defense counsel, (who is a son of E. S. Young, former common pleas judge of Adams County) is a candidate for prosecuting attorney, and trial of the case on the date originally fixed would interfere with his campaign for the office.

After considering the motion, Judge John P. Case fixed Dec. 4 as the new date for the trial.

BALDRIGE was found guilty of first degree manslaughter, on March 7, sentenced to one to 20 years in the Ohio Penitentiary, taken to that institution, but was released when his counsel obtained a stay of execution a few days later.

Baldrige had been indicted on a second degree murder charge growing out of the fatal shooting of the game protector when the officer found a member of the Baldrige hunting party had two hen pheasants in his possession.

The trial here lasted eight days, and the case is now pending in the Court of Appeals, where it was carried by the defense.

The Court of Appeals is scheduled to be in session in Fayette County Oct. 9, but whether the Baldrige case will be taken up then for disposition, has not been announced.

Patrick was killed the first day of the hunting season, while on Baldrige's land after arresting one of the Baldrige hunting party.

'Commando' Kelly Faces Pile of Woes

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — Charles (Commando) Kelly, winner of the nation's highest military honor for his heroism in World War II, today is looking for a job and a way out of his financial troubles.

And the 35-year-old Medal of Honor holder said he is "overwhelmed" by offers of help that have come from friends who have heard of his difficulties.

Kelly's bills began mounting after an operation for appendicitis last Aug. 5. Peritonitis set in and doctors told Kelly he would have to take it easy until October.

Kelly, seated in the modest government project where he lives with his wife and six children, said he was not seeking "charity" but only a way to earn a living.

A slim, dark-haired man with a perpetual grin, Kelly won the Medal of Honor for single-handedly holding off a German advance in Italy in 1943, killing 40 of the enemy.

In Pittsburgh, Kelly's home town, Allegheny County Commissioner John M. Walker proposed that Kelly be put on the county payroll. Walker said the proposal was discussed with the two other commissioners and it was decided to ask the Federation of War Veterans for advice.

However, Kelly, who has worked at construction projects in this area, said he "probably" would stay in Louisville.

2-Gun Thug Nabbed On Airport Runway

DENVER — Control tower employees at Denver Airport field told police Friday there was a "man armed with two guns" at the end of a runway.

Two squad cars roared to the area. Special airport police converged on the scene.

The officers found an 8-year-old boy, armed with a toy "space gun," and a plastic shotgun, sitting just inside the fence dramatically watching the big passenger planes take off and land.

Republican Ire Is Aroused by Adlai's Talks

Knowland and Halleck Fire Back at Democrat For 'Misstatements'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Adlai E. Stevenson scheduled two campaign appearances in Virginia today, while Republicans angrily blasted a Thursday night speech by the Democratic presidential nominee.

Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.), emerging from a political talk with President Eisenhower, said Stevenson's Harrisburg, Pa., speech was filled with "carping criticism" and "misstatements." Stevenson, working out of campaign headquarters in Washington for the next week, planned to attend a barbeque at Fairfax, Va., just across the Potomac River, this afternoon, and speak at a Democratic rally tonight.

Knowland, in commenting on Stevenson's Thursday night speech at Harrisburg, said:

"While Mr. Stevenson now issues a warning on the drift toward communism, within the last week or two he has held out the hope for an early end of the draft and for the end of American testing of the atomic weapons—the latter despite the fact that within the past few weeks there have been four additional atomic tests by the Soviet Union."

REP. HALLECK (R-Ind.), referring to Stevenson's statement that he trusts the people, said "if Mr. Stevenson truly trusts the American people, why is he trying to scare them to death with his grim descriptions and prophecies of gloom at home and doom in the world?"

In Chicago Friday, Gov. Frank Clement of Tennessee termed Vice President Nixon "the most strategic figure" in the Republican Party.

He also expressed the opinion that the bulk of the American people are willing to vote Democratic to "avoid" Nixon.

Gov. Clement, who was the keynote of the Democratic National Convention, declared:

"If you want to promote and accelerate Richard Nixon on the American political scene, vote Republican. But I think the bulk of the American people are willing to vote Democratic for at least four years if for no other reason than to avoid him."

He added that the Republicans are "relieving Dick Nixon from hatchet-man duties and transferring them to a man who has no elective office to lose—Presidential Press Secretary James A. Hagerty."

Brink's Robber Details Holdup

BOSTON — Joseph "Specs" O'Keefe bluntly told a Superior Court jury he robbed the Brink's headquarters of $1,219,000 and the eight men on trial were with him.

He testified as a state witness Friday that the robbery was in the planning stage for more than two years.

He said members of the gang broke into Brink's at least 15 times to study the physical layout of the place before the robbery was carried out on the night of Jan. 17, 1950.

Man Changes Mind About Inheritance

NEW YORK — A former Yale University student says he'd now like to have the $350,000 inheritance he turned down last year for "moral and political reasons."

Eugene F. Suter Jr., 24, said in a court petition Friday he is "in dire straits and in great and urgent need of medical and psychiatric care and treatment."

Suter said he was suffering from physical and mental illness at the time he rejected his father's bequest. Suter was a senior at Yale when he refused the money. He said then he had "two hands and a head" of his own and wanted no part of the $350,000.

Additional arguments in a Probate Court action brought by Sam Marting and 11 other taxpayers against county, city and district school board members, were heard Friday afternoon by Judge John Houston of Brown County, sitting by assignment.

The three-hour session, which was held in the Common Pleas courtroom, was devoted to oral arguments on a defendants' demurrer to an amended petition filed by the plaintiffs who seek a court declaration leading to creation of a county Citizens Committee on school problems and ask that a

Injured Girl, 5, Doesn't Talk Much; Medics Feel She Knows Family Dead

CHICAGO — Little Robin Sher has never asked why her parents and only sister haven't come to see her and doctors believe they know why.

They are convinced the 5-year-old child suspects that all other members of her family are dead and is afraid to ask for that reason.

Little Robin suffered a broken shoulder bone and brain injury in the same Aug. 30 Minnesota car collision in which they perished. She now is confined to Michael Reese Hospital in Chicago.

In most ways, her behavior follows the normal patterns. She likes to play with other children and with toys. But she speaks only when spoken to. Doctors say she is wrestling with a tremendous emotional problem.

"Robin appears to be in a tremendous cloud of anxiety," said Dr. L. J. Halpern, hospital pediatrician. "I feel she suspects her parents are dead, but that she is fearful to ask, afraid to learn what's happened."

While doctors wondered how to break the news to Robin, a bitter intra-family fight developed over Robin's custody. The death of her parents has left the girl sole heiress to a substantial fortune. Her father, Harold J., was a partner in a Chicago hardware business before his retirement and leaves an estate of about $1 million.

The family feud broke into the open last Wednesday when Robin was brought to Chicago from a Fairmont, Minn., hospital by her paternal aunt, Mrs. Blossom Sher Peachin.

When the train stopped in suburban Des Plaines, Robin's maternal grandparents had the girl taken from the Peachins on a writ of habeas corpus, after charging the child was "spirited" from the Fairmont Hospital by Mrs. Peachin and her husband, Samuel.

Robin was placed in custody of Superior Court pending a settlement of the custody battle. The court may eventually have to decide to which side of the family Robin goes.

Victims of the highway accident were Sher, 43; his wife, Fritz, and their daughter, Lynn, 12.

Since Sher's retirement three years ago, the family had been living in Miami Beach, Fla.

Egyptian Chief Claims Victory As Pilots Quit

'Obstruction' Tactics By England, France Failing, Leader Feels

CAIRO, Egypt — President Nasser today called the Western Big Three's newest plan for running the Suez Canal "a declaration of war." He charged Britain and France were trying to obstruct navigation in the canal, but said their efforts had failed.

Nasser took his adamant stand in a fiery speech two days after Secretary of State Dulles urged Egypt to reconsider its opposition to the international users proposal of the United States, France and Britain.

At the same time, Nasser proclaimed victory over what he termed a French and British conspiracy to snarl canal operations today, the first day that Egypt shouldered the task of running the canal alone.

Nasser charged France and Britain put pressure on employees of the old Suez Canal Co. to quit, then sent a larger number of ships than usual through the canal, "to complete their conspiracy of obstructing navigation."

But Nasser said 70 Egyptian and 7 Greek pilots were keeping traffic moving smoothly. He said nothing about a token force of Soviet pilots rushed in by Moscow.

MORE THAN 400 veteran foreign pilots, engineers and technicians quit in a body last midnight.

They said they were unwilling to work for the Egyptian Canal Authority set up after Nasser nationalized the old canal company properties July 26.

In a speech at Bilbeis Air Force College north of Cairo, Nasser said the aim of the Big Three's user plan "is not peace but war and aggression against the small countries."

Nasser declared he found the U. S. State Department support of the international plan "means they will help Britain provoke the Egyptian people into a clash with Britain."

Nasser said Britain and France "conspire against their own interests to prove to the world Egypt's inability to run the canal so they must come in and run it themselves."

The Egyptian president said the Egyptian and Greek pilots "courageously resisted all incentives to leave." He announced he was awarding them honor medals.

Nasser declared England and France had threatened force against Egypt and proclaimed: "An attack on Egypt is an attack on all Arabs."

An all-Egypt staff got a big 29-ship convoy moving from Suez up the channel toward Port Said and the Mediterranean today without any apparent hitch.

EGYPTIAN CANAL officials were overjoyed when the convoy of 16 tankers, 12 cargo vessels and 1 passenger ship got off ahead of schedule.

The delighted officials said the French super tanker Iscocardio arrived at Suez at 6 a. m. and got permission to join the convoy. Such speed was unusual.

Timed with the mass walkout of the canal's foreign employees was an announcement by Antol Chikov, Soviet consul in Port Said, that a group of Russian pilots had arrived here for duty on the canal.

Chikov said he did not know how many Russian pilots had arrived. Unconfirmed reports said there were only six.

That would not be enough to make a big difference in the overall problem of pilots, but it represented another Soviet mark on the credit side of the Arab ledger.

Car Kills Woman At Rural Mailbox

AKRON — A 75-year-old woman was killed Friday when hit by an automobile as she crossed the road to the mailbox in front of her home on Ohio 14 a mile north of Twinsburg and the driver was arrested for manslaughter.

The victim was Mrs. Bertha Holmes. Police at Bedford said Dan R. Glascock, 21, of Bedford, was held for manslaughter.

Supreme Court Hearing Last Sheppard Plea

WASHINGTON — Lawyers for Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, in their final bid for the young osteopath's freedom, say Dr. Paul Leland Kirk can show that someone else, not Sheppard, murdered Sheppard's wife, Marilyn, July 4, 1954.

A big portion of Dr. Sheppard's appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court repeats previous claims that unfavorable publicity produced a "Roman holiday" atmosphere, making a fair trial impossible. But Sheppard's lawyers also are banking on the claim that new evidence was found after the trial.

After the Sheppard trial ended in Cuyahoga County common pleas court, the lawyers have told the high court in their brief, Dr. Kirk, a "nationally known criminologist," found a "large spot of blood of some third person" on a wardrobe door in the Sheppards' Bay Village home.

"This evidence was vital to the defense," says the appeal. "It struck at the very heart of the state's case. It is impossible to overestimate what effect it would have had if the jury could have heard Dr. Kirk testify."

Sheppard is serving a life sentence in Ohio Penitentiary for the crime.

Dr. Kirk, identified as a biochemist who was in charge of the criminalistic section of the School of Criminology at the University of California, was not hired until after the trial. This, say the lawyers, was only because they were denied access to the Sheppard home until the trial ended.

Clifton E. Hazard, a member of the Washington C. H. High School faculty last year, has joined the University of Cincinnati faculty as instructor of English in the College of Business Administration.

Hazard holds a Bachelor of Science degree in education from the University of Cincinnati and formerly taught English in the UC College of Engineering.

He also holds a bachelor of science degree in commerce and business administration from Ohio State University, a master of arts degree in Slavonic languages and a certificate in Russian literature from Columbia University.

During World War II, Hazard served three years with the United States Air Force. Following his 1946 teaching experience at UC he was recalled to active duty, served a year at the Army Language School, Presidio, Monterey, Calif., and another three years in Germany.

He has taught English in the secondary schools of Virginia and one year in the Colerain Township High School, Hamilton County.

Kidnaped Woman Said Buried Alive

SAN DIEGO, Calif. — Wealthy Mrs. Ruth Evelyn Latham, 51, was quoted by police today as saying she was conscious when buried alive and naked by kidnapers.

"I was watching you," they said she told one of two women she has identified as the alleged kidnapers. "When I was lying there and you were piling those rocks on me, you thought I was out but I wasn't."

She said she also pleaded with one of the women, Mrs. Beatrice Winn, 57, a former business associate: "Bea, why are you doing this to me?"

The other woman, Mrs. Lucille Whisenand, 36, was identified by Mrs. Latham at the El Centro Hospital, where she is recovering.

Mrs. Whisenand, a U. S. Customs Service clerk of Mexican-American parentage, was then brought back to the San Diego City Jail, where she and Mrs. Winn are booked on charges of suspicion of kidnapping and attempted murder. Bail of $50,000 was set for each.

BOTH SAID they were innocent, and that they themselves had been kidnaped Wednesday by three men and a woman who had talked about getting money from the Lathams.

Police said there was still no clear motive, other than court litigation between Mrs. Latham and Mrs. Winn over their interests in a defunct building supply company.

They said Mrs. Latham, wife of a San Diego investment broker, George Latham, related she was forced by the kidnapers to write several checks against corporations of which she is an official.

She said she was alone in her home here with a 4-month-old grandson when she was kidnaped Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Whisenand forced her at knifepoint and under threat of harm to the baby to accompany her, Mrs. Latham stated. Mrs. Winn joined them later, she said. She was first bound and gagged on the floor of a station wagon, or panel truck, and later was pushed into the trunk compartment of an automobile, she told officers.

The car stopped on the desert. Mrs. Latham related. She said she was stripped, her hair was pulled, she was beaten and her hands and feet tied with a cord.

She was also blindfolded but managed to push the foot aside while she was being buried.

SHE STRUGGLED free during Wednesday night and staggered and crawled five miles across the desert to Highway 80, 19 miles west of El Centro. She was sighted by a motorist as she crouched behind a bush.

Mrs. Latham said she used tumbleweeds and other desert brush to cover her nakedness and shield herself from the burning sun. Temperatures reached 110 degrees Thursday. Inhabitants of the area marveled that Mrs. Latham survived.

Officers located the shallow grave and binding cord but found no trace of Mrs. Latham's clothes.

The Lathams have two sons, both physicians. Police said Latham estimated the family wealth at $4 million.

Mrs. Winn, wife of a utility company district manager, has held business positions and has been active in politics.

Mrs. Whisenand has been divorced for 13 years from a U. S. Marine sergeant, a sister said. She has a 16-year-old daughter.

Phone Parley To Resume On Monday

PORTSMOUTH — Representatives of the Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co. and the striking Communications Workers of America are to meet Monday in another effort to end the 63-day-old strike.

Consolidated's parent company, the General Telephone Co. of Ohio, announced Friday that it had signed an interim contract with CWA employees in its New Philadelphia District.

Industrial Relations Director Frank Lennberg said the contract was substantially the same as the one being offered CWA by Consolidated.

Contract provisions included an undisclosed wage boost and are retroactive to Sept. 2, Lennberg said. The agreement is effective until Dec. 25, 1956, when the New Philadelphia contract is to be combined with the company's general contract.

Negotiations for a new Ohio Consolidated contract reportedly have been deadlocked on 18 issues. Negotiators have said wage provisions have not yet been discussed.

MIAMI, Fla. — Pity the poor clerk who has to announce a case which is now on the docket of U. S. District Court. Willy H. Watkins, injured aboard a Norwegian ship, is asking $50,000 from the ship's owner, a corporation named Dampskibsselskabet Laly.

Kentucky School Board Says Negroes Enrolled 'Illegally'

CLAY, Ky. — The Webster County School Board said Friday night it will not permit enrollment at the Clay School of three Negro children who have attended classes under National Guard aid.

Supt. Wilbur Collins, said the three Negroes would be informed of the seven-member unanimous decision Monday morning.

However, he added he could not prevent the guardsmen from escorting the children to school again. But, he said, city and county officials believe Gov. A. B. Chandler will withdraw the troops. The decision came on the heels of an opinion by State Atty. Gen. Jo M. Ferguson that the Negroes were enrolled illegally at the school.

The mother of two of the Negro children, Mrs. James Gordon, said her children were enrolled at Clay. But Collins replied they were not formally enrolled, but were admitted under protest.

MRS. GORDON'S children, James, 10, and Theresa, 8, began classes at Clay under National Guard protection Wednesday.

The third child, Bobbie Copeland, 12, began Friday.

White children, backed up by their parents, have boycotted the school.

The board also set up a seven-member Advisory Integration Committee, including two Negroes to draw up integration plans before the next school board meeting in early October.

Earlier Friday, Clay Mayor Herman Z. Clark asked the National Guard to leave after the opinion by the attorney general.

Maj. Gen. J. B. Williams, guard commander, said he would not remove the guards until ordered to do so by the governor.

Visiting Judge Hears School Case Arguments

Additional arguments in a Probate Court action brought by Sam Marting and 11 other taxpayers against county, city and district school board members, were heard Friday afternoon by Judge John Houston of Brown County, sitting by assignment.

The three-hour session, which was held in the Common Pleas courtroom, was devoted to oral arguments on a defendants' demurrer to an amended petition filed by the plaintiffs who seek a court declaration leading to creation of a county Citizens Committee on school problems and ask that a

Nov. 26 transfer of Paint, Jefferson and Bloomingburg school districts to Miami Trace district be declared null and void.

Judge Houston deferred decision on the demurrer pending further study. The case is in effect a test of the new Citizens School Committee law.

THE DEMURRER, which admits facts as stated by the plaintiffs, holds that these facts do not constitute a cause for action, that members of the Miami Trace board are not properly parties to the suit and that certain plaintiffs in the action are not affected by the transfer and should not be parties to the suit.

Richard Addison, Columbus, attorney for the Fayette County Board of Education, reviewing events leading up to the filing of the original suit argued that all actions by the county board and its clerk, Superintendent W. J. Hilty, were within the discretion of the defendants, that there was no abuse of discretion and no cause for declaratory judgment.

He said that a Citizens Committee, organized under a statute since amended, submitted a plan for merging the eight county districts existing at that time and that these plans were carried out with approval of the state superintendent of public instruction.

IT IS the contention of the defendants that no action could be taken on a Nov. 4, 1955, request for a new Citizens Committee, which under the amended law may include the city school district, because after the transfer of the three districts to Miami Trace (Nov. 26, 1955) only two districts (Miami Trace and Washing-

Egyptian Chief Claims Victory As Pilots Quit

'Obstruction' Tactics By England, France Failing, Leader Feels

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—President Nasser today called the Western Big Three's newest plan for running the Suez Canal "a declaration of war." He charged Britain and France were trying to obstruct navigation in the canal, but said their efforts had failed.

Nasser took his adamant stand in a fiery speech two days after Secretary of State Dulles urged Egypt to reconsider its opposition to the international users proposal of the United States, France and Britain.

At the same time, Nasser proclaimed victory over what he termed a French and British conspiracy to snarl canal operations today, the first day that Egypt shouldered the task of running the canal alone.

Nasser charged France and Britain put pressure on employees of the old Suez Canal Co. to quit, then sent a larger number of ships than usual through the canal, "to complete their conspiracy of obstructing navigation."

But Nasser said 70 Egyptian and 7 Greek pilots were keeping traffic moving smoothly. He said nothing about a token force of Soviet pilots rushed in by Moscow.

MORE THAN 400 veteran foreign pilots, engineers and technicians quit in a body last night.

They said they were unwilling to work for the Egyptian Canal Authority set up after Nasser nationalized the old canal company properties July 26.

In a speech at Bilbeis Air Force College north of Cairo, Nasser said the aim of the Big Three's user plan "is not peace but war and aggression against the small countries."

Nasser declared he found the U. S. State Department support of the international plan "means they will help Britain provoke the Egyptian people into a clash with Britain."

Nasser said Britain and France "conspire against their own interests to prove to the world Egypt's inability to run the canal so they must come in and run it themselves."

The Egyptian president said the Egyptian and Greek pilots "courageously resisted all incentives to leave." He announced he was awarding them honor medals.

Nasser declared England and France had threatened force against Egypt and proclaimed: "An attack on Egypt is an attack on all Arabs."

An all-Egypt staff got a big 29-ship convoy moving from Suez up the channel toward Port Said and the Mediterranean today without any apparent hitch.

EGYPTIAN CANAL officials were overjoyed when the convoy of 16 tankers, 12 cargo vessels and 1 passenger ship got off ahead of schedule.

The delighted officials said the French super tanker Iscocard arrived at Suez at 6 a. m. and got permission to join the convoy. Such speed was unusual.

Timed with the mass walkout of the canal's foreign employees was an announcement by Antoli Chikov, Soviet consul in Port Said, that a group of Russian pilots had arrived here for duty on the canal.

Chikov said he did not know how many Russian pilots had arrived. Unconfirmed reports said there were only six.

That would not be enough to make a big difference in the overall problem of pilots, but it represented another Soviet mark on the credit side of the Arab ledger.

Car Kills Woman At Rural Mailbox

AKRON (AP)—A 75-year-old woman was killed Friday when hit by an automobile as she crossed the road to the mailbox in front of her home on Ohio 14 a mile north of Twinsburg and the driver was arrested for manslaughter.

The victim was Mrs. Bertha Holmes. Police at Bedford said Dan R. Glascock, 21, of Bedford, was held for manslaughter.

Kidnaped Woman Said Buried Alive

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Wealthy Mrs. Ruth Evelyn Latham, 51, was quoted by police today as saying she was conscious when buried alive and naked by kidnapers.

"I was watching you," they said she told one of two women she has identified as the alleged kidnapers. "When I was lying there and you were piling those rocks on me, you thought I was out but I wasn't."

She said she also pleaded with one of the women, Mrs. Beatrice Winn, 57, a former business associate: "Bea, why are you doing this to me?"

The other woman, Mrs. Lucille Whisenand, 36, was identified by Mrs. Latham at the El Centro Hospital, where she is recovering.

Mrs. Whisenand, a U. S. Customs Service clerk of Mexican-American parentage, was then brought back to the San Diego City Jail, where she and Mrs. Winn are booked on charges of suspicion of kidnaping and attempted murder. Bail of $50,000 was set for each.

BOTH SAID they were innocent, and that they themselves had been kidnaped Wednesday by three men and a woman who had talked about getting money from the Lathams.

Police said there was still no clear motive, other than court litigation between Mrs. Latham and Mrs. Winn over their interests in a defunct building supply company.

They said Mrs. Latham, wife of a San Diego investment broker, George Latham, related she was forced by the kidnapers to write several checks against corporations of which she is an official.

She said she was alone in her home here with a 4-month-old grandson when she was kidnaped Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Whisenand forced her at knifepoint and under threat of harm to the baby to accompany her, Mrs. Latham stated. Mrs. Winn joined them later, she said.

She was first bound and gagged on the floor of a station wagon, or panel truck, and later was pushed into the trunk compartment of an automobile, she told officers.

The car stopped on the desert. Mrs. Latham related. She said she was stripped, her hair was pulled, she was beaten and her hands and feet tied with a cord.

She was also blindfolded but managed to push the fold aside while she was being buried.

SHE STRUGGLED free during Wednesday night and staggered and crawled five miles across the desert to Highway 80, 19 miles west of El Centro. She was sighted by a motorist as she crouched behind a bush.

Mrs. Latham said she used tumbleweeds and other desert brush to cover her nakedness and shield herself from the burning sun. Temperatures reached 110 degrees Thursday. Inhabitants of the area marveled that Mrs. Latham survived.

Officers located the shallow grave and binding cord but found no trace of Mrs. Latham's clothes.

The Lathams have two sons, both physicians. Police said Latham estimated the family wealth at $4 million.

Mrs. Winn, wife of a utility company district manager, has held business positions and has been active in politics.

Mrs. Whisenand has been divorced for 13 years from a U. S. Marine sergeant, a sister said. She has a 16-year-old daughter.

Phone Parley To Resume On Monday

PORTSMOUTH (AP)—Representatives of the Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co. and the striking Communications Workers of America are to meet Monday in another effort to end the 63-day-old strike.

Consolidated's parent company, the General Telephone Co. of Ohio, announced Friday that it had signed an interim contract with CWA employees in its New Philadelphia District.

Industrial Relations Director Frank Lennberg said the contract was substantially the same as the one being offered CWA by Consolidated.

Contract provisions included an undisclosed wage boost and were retroactive to Sept. 2, Lennberg said. The agreement is effective until Dec. 25, 1956, when the New Philadelphia contract is to be combined with the company's general contract.

Negotiations for a new Ohio Consolidated contract reportedly have been deadlocked on 18 issues. Negotiators have said wage provisions have not yet been discussed.

Pity This Clerk

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Pity the poor clerk who has to announce a case which is now on the docket of U. S. District Court, Willy H. Watkins, injured aboard a Norwegian ship, is asking $50,000 from the ship's owner, a corporation named Dampskibsselskabet Laly.

The decision came on the heels of an opinion by State Atty. Gen. Jo M. Ferguson that the Negroes were enrolled illegally at the school.

The mother of two of the Negro children, Mrs. James Gordon, said her children were enrolled at Clay. But Collins replied they were not formally enrolled, but were admitted under protest.

MRS. GORDON'S children, James, 10, and Theresa, 8, began classes at Clay under National Guard protection Wednesday.

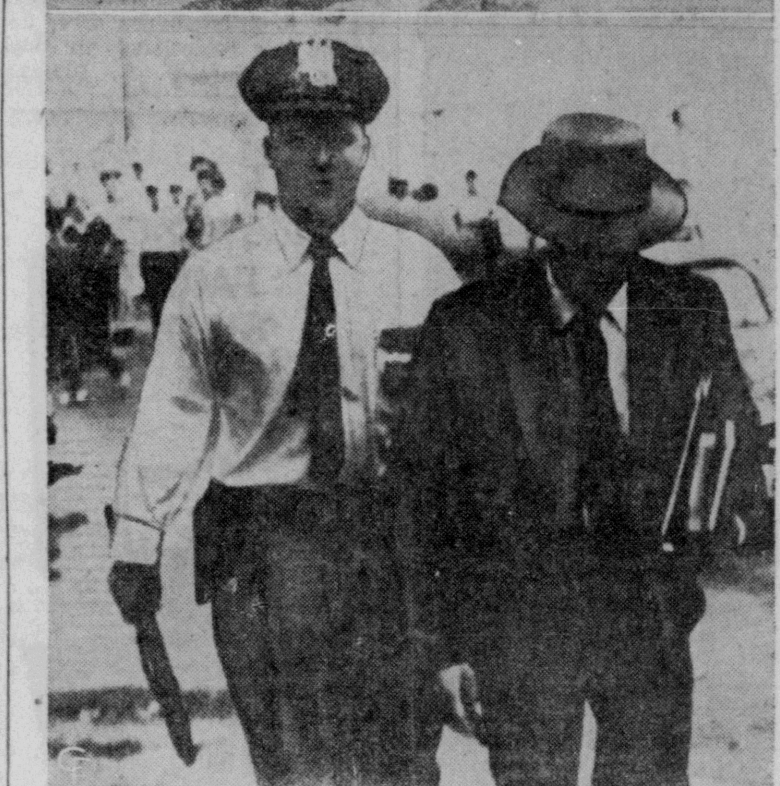

The third child, Bobbie Copeland, 12, began Friday.

White children, backed up by their parents, have boycotted the school.

The board also set up a seven-member Advisory Integration Committee, including two Negroes to draw up integration plans before the next school board meeting in early October.

Earlier Friday, Clay Mayor Herman Z. Clark asked the National Guard to leave after the opinion by the attorney general.

Maj. Gen. J. B. Williams, guard commander, said he would not remove the guards unless ordered to do so by the governor.

Kentucky School Board Says Negroes Enrolled 'Illegally'

CLAY, Ky. (AP)—The Webster County School Board said Friday night it will not permit enrollment at the Clay School of three Negro children who have attended classes under National Guard aid.

Supt. Wilbur Collins, said the three Negroes would be informed of the seven-member unanimous decision Monday morning.

However, he added he could not prevent the guardsmen from escorting the children to school again. But he said, city and county officials believe Gov. A. B. Chandler will withdraw the troops.

Visiting Judge Hears School Case Arguments

Nov. 26 transfer of Paint, Jefferson and Bloomingburg school districts to Miami Trace district declared null and void.

Judge Houston deferred decision on the demurrer pending further study. The case is in effect a test of the new Citizens School Committee law.

THE DEMURRER, which admits facts as stated by the plaintiffs, holds that these facts do not constitute a cause for action, that members of the Miami Trace board are not properly parties to the suit and that certain plaintiffs in the action are not affected by the transfer and should not be parties to the suit.

Richard Addison, Columbus, attorney for the Fayette County Board of Education, reviewing evidence leading up to the filing of the original suit argued that all actions by the county board and its clerk, Superintendent W. J. Hilty, were within the discretion of the board of discretion and no cause for declaratory judgment.

He said that a Citizens Committee, organized under a statute since amended, submitted a plan for merging the eight county districts existing at that time and that these plans were carried out with approval of the state superintendent of public instruction.

IT IS the contention of the defendants that no action could be taken on a Nov. 4, 1955, request for a new Citizens Committee, which under the amended law may include the city school district, because after the transfer of the three districts to Miami Trace (Nov. 26, 1955) only two districts (Miami Trace and Washington) remained.

The decision came on the heels

of an opinion by State Atty. Gen. Jo M. Ferguson that the Negroes were enrolled illegally at the school.

The mother of two of the Negro children, Mrs. James Gordon, said her children were enrolled at Clay. But Collins replied they were not formally enrolled, but were admitted under protest.

Frost-free Fall Needed for Corn

Weather Big Factor In Determining Yield

Low temperature, on Aug. 20 and 21 with light frost reported in eastern Iowa caused some concern for the maturity of the corn crop.

Minnesota crop reporters stated frost must hold off until Oct. 1 to insure maturity of the latest fields. Michigan and Ohio also need a long frost-free fall to mature their numerous late planted fields.

The southern part of the country from Kansas, Tennessee and Texas southward suffered from high temperatures and low rainfall in August. This caused considerable deterioration in corn in the southern and southeastern states. However, this does not have much effect on total yield, as the southern states produce only a little more than 10 percent of the nation's corn crop.

Many corn belt areas now report enough moisture has fallen to "make" the crop. At this time of year when the corn plant is drawing heavily on nitrogen to finish the ears, indications of nitrogen deficiency show up. Fields which were green to the ground, begin to show the "firing" of the lower leaves, typical of nitrogen shortage.

IN SOUTHERN Minnesota, this change from dark green foliage to a fired condition occurred almost overnight in many fields. Bacterial action is necessary to release nitrogen for plant use and Minnesota's extremely dry fall followed by a cold, wet spring and summer has inhibited such action. Central Illinois reports some fired fields showing up in their unusually good fields.

A sandy, central corn belt county which is showing considerable interest in raising more sorghum as a corn substitute is Muscatine County, Ia. Dry conditions have caused considerable damage to corn there, but the numerous trail fields and plots of sorghum have looked good by comparison.

Additional reports of scattered hail damage continue to come in, which will make 1956 show one of the greatest hail losses in history, with Iowa being particularly badly injured.

Ohio's Swiss Festival Set Sept. 28-29

COLUMBUS, — Ohio's internationally famous Swiss Festival will be greatly improved as to space and programming when the fourth annual celebration is held Sept. 28-29 in Sugar Creek.

Sugar Creek is virtually the capital of the five-county area known as "Little Switzerland of Ohio." Most of the population came from the Alpine country and they brought with them enough costumes and treasures to create really authentic Swiss atmosphere and 27 cheese factories in the area compete for the title of grand champion Swiss cheese maker.

Among the new features slated for this year's shows are: a steinstossen, or stone-tossing contest; and a special parade of antique automobiles. The stone-tossing event will be open to all visitors who may compete for prizes. Incidentally, the stone that is to be tossed weighs 138 pounds.

Traditional activities at the Swiss Festival include: schwingfests or Swiss wrestling; street dancing; amateur shows, queen contest, Alpbhorn blowing and Swiss flag throwing.

Musical groups will provide practically uninterrupted music for dancing.

Woman Rural Carrier Fills Odd Requests

LOUISVILLE, Ky., (AP) — You wouldn't expect a mail carrier to take measurements for a girdle or make an impression for an elderly woman's dentures.

But that's what Mrs. Alta M. Monin, one of 325 rural letter carriers in the nation, does on her route.

And the Oakland, Ky., woman says "that is by no means the most unusual request I've had."

A veteran of 18 years with the Post Office Department, Mrs. Monin says her oddest service was making the dental impression for a woman trying to order teeth by mail.

Mrs. Monin came to the rescue "but the woman moved away shortly after that and I never did find out if the new teeth fit."

THE MONOTONY of a solo ride once was broken when Mrs. Monin found a coiled snake resting in a mailbox — dead, of course. "I lifted the letter off and replaced it with one I was delivering and calmly got back into the car as if meeting snakes was a daily occurrence."

Mrs. Monin insists her job is the "best job in the world — one that's ideal for women."

She took over a route in 1936 when, a young widow with three children to rear and educate, she applied for the job and passed the Civil Service examination.

Husband-Wife Plow Team Entered

NEWTON, Iowa (AP) — A husband and wife team will compete in the national plowing matches to be held near here Sept. 22.

Mrs. Pauline Blankenship, Murfreesboro, Tenn., will compete in the contour plowing matches and her husband, John, is entered in the level land section of the plowing competition.

Other contestants include: Contour division—Buss Cummins of Bellefontaine, Ohio. Level land section—Donald Barbee, Conover, Ohio, defending champion; Lawrence Goettmeller, Celina, Ohio.

Railroads delivered an average of 299,000 tons of freight an hour during 1955.

Teamwork Saves 3,155 Acres

Seventy-five farmers in southwestern Ohio have teamed up in seven groups to get a drainage job done that each farmer, working individually, would find impossible to accomplish.

The scene is in Brown County. The main actors are the 75 farmers, the Brown County Soil Conservation District, the County ASC Committee and technicians of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service. Supporting cast included the Brown County commissioners and township trustees.

"It worked this way," declared Paul Whitehead, conservation engineer of the SCS: In meetings of the interested farmers they banded themselves into seven groups in accordance with their common drainage problems. Each group then applied to the Soil Conservation District for technical help and to the county ASC committee for cost sharing assistance. Approval and assistance were granted by both groups. As of now, two group jobs are done and two more will be completed soon.

Commenting further, Whitehead said: "When all contracts are completed, 3,155 acres of cropland will be directly benefited on 75 farms. All jobs were done on a mutual organized drainage group basis and will receive financial assistance through their ASC office by means of pooling agreements."

"I WOULDN'T be without my surface drainage system," declared Henry Piper, who lives in northeastern Ohio. "This year, with rain almost every other day, really was the clincher. Looks as though I'm going to have a real corn crop in spite of the wet weather," he continued.

During the spring of 1955, Piper built 2,500 feet of twin waterways, 1,000 feet of drainage terraces and 1,500 feet of collection ditches. In addition, he established 10 acres of land in a bedding system of surface drainage layout.

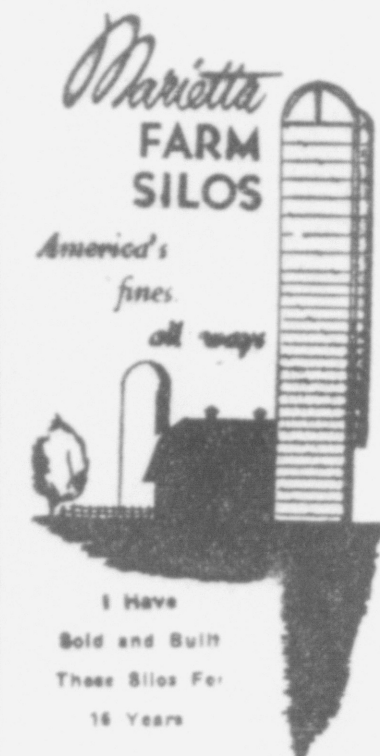

Piper stated that after his 1955 and 1956 experiences, he would have had a complete crop failure this year on the 20-acre field, had it not been for his surface drainage system.

"All the fertilizer and lime I applied would have done little good if the corn had drowned out. It surely would have this year without drainage," he concluded.

Piper is a cooperator of the Ashland County Soil Conservation District. Ed Eccleston, U. S. Soil Conservation Service, has just completed the layout of another twin waterway on the Piper farm.

"ALFALFA-BROMEGRASS pasture is my most valuable crop," declared Sam Cook of Crawford County.

Cook, a dairyman farming 145 acres just east of Bucyrus, used rotational grazing to boost his gross returns to $110-$120 per acre, according to a recent study in cooperation with J. W. E. Dunbar.

Cook, who is in his eighth year of farming, uses the owner sampler method of testing to seek further improvement in his herd of 27 head of cattle. He believes that even with rotational grazing, which doubles the forage yield, too much good forage is wasted and that farmers, on a limited acreage, might well consider the use of so-called "zero" grazing, in which green forage is hauled directly to the cattle, if they are able to justify the additional investment.

He uses a top yielding 4-year corn-small grain-meadow rotation on the 100 acres of cropland. He worked out his farm conservation plan with the late John Baker, SCS technician, after he became a cooperator with the District.

Record-Keeping Plan Outlined

More Profits Seen Under New System

Plans to launch a new, low-cost method of record-keeping designed to help dairy farmers put their operations on a more efficient and profitable basis will be discussed at a regional meeting in Chicago Sept. 24.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture and Extension Service representatives from Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin will participate in the discussion. C. D. McGrew, Ohio State University extension dairy specialist, will represent the Ohio Extension Service at the meeting.

The new dairy record-keeping system, called the "Weigh-a-Day-a-Month" plan, was developed by the Department of Agriculture in cooperation with state extension dairymen and the American Dairy Science association to meet the record-keeping needs of the 9 out of 10 dairy farmers who do not keep production records on their cows.

The method simplifies milk recording to the single practice of weighing the milk output of each cow in a herd, morning and night, one day a month. The farmer weighs the milk himself.

USDA dairy officials see in the new plan an opportunity for dairymen not only to improve production efficiency but, through culling the low-producing cows, possibly to prevent some excess milk from reaching markets.

vide Soil Conservation District six years ago.

Cook credits his family help in making rotational grazing practical. His two sons, 8 and 10 years old, play an important part in the program, for they move the electric wire fence each day across the 5 acre strips. Each strip provides forage for two weeks before the cattle are moved to another strip in the field.

The alfalfa-bromegrass meadows are used two years either for hay or pasture, depending upon convenience. One upright silo is filled with grass silage. Cook feels that he could easily use two silos.

"THIS IS WHERE I want to build my pond," declared Walter Whitson, a southwestern Ohio conservation farmer.

The spot he picked was out in a pasture field, handy to his grazing cattle.

In digging the pond, the bulldozer uncovered some pieces of wood, similar to redwood, which, of course, is not native to southwestern Ohio. This wood, undoubtedly, was from the forest that covered Whitson's farm before the glacier came along 30,000 years or more ago, to bury it.

Much more recently, another forest had grown up and had been destroyed by the landowners before Whitson bought the land a few years ago. With the clearing and heavy row cropping, most of the topsoil had eroded away.

Whitson has restored a protective grassland cover to the land. On his 92 acre farm he grows 10 acres of corn and 10 acres of wheat and the remainder produces high quality legume-grass meadow and pasture. He keeps a 25-cow milking herd.

Whitson is a cooperator of the Clinton Soil Conservation District. John Smith, of the SCS, Service, assisted with the planning of the farm and the design and layout of the farm pond.

Good Care of Soil Raises Corn Yield

Corn yields could be boosted 56 bushels per acre, alfalfa hay by about 1.3 tons, oats 27 bushels, and potatoes by 200 bushels, if farmers followed college recommendations for fertilizer applications plus good management practices.

That was the statement of the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee, in citing college studies.

Among good management practices suggested in addition to fertilizer use at college-recommended rates, are: liming where needed, good crop rotations, minimum tillage, tillage-building methods and adequate drainage.

Winter Wheat Profits Boosted When Fertilizer Added in Fall

College tests indicate fall fertilization can boost winter wheat yields as much as 14 bushels per acre.

Farmers who fertilize their winter wheat crop this fall at planting time can make higher profits despite average allotments.

That was the statement of the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee, in citing studies by college agronomists.

Preparing Lawn For Winter Season

Put your lawn in good condition for winter by feeding it this fall, advises Victor H. Ries, Ohio State University extension floriculturist.

You may use any complete commercial fertilizer, Ries says, and you may apply it any time within the next six weeks, but he suggests you do it as soon as possible if the ground is moist. For best results, use a spreader. It will distribute the fertilizer more evenly than you can do it by hand. Figure on from 3 to 4 pounds of fertilizer for each 100 square feet of lawn area.

Don't apply lime to your lawn unless it is needed, Ries says. Your county agent has soil sample containers and will arrange for the soil tests. The initial application of lime will be all that is needed for 10 or more years. Many lawn areas in the eastern half of the state would be improved by adding some lime.

There are 17,030 factories on Formosa registered with the Chinese Nationalist government.

Each group then applied to the Soil Conservation District for technical help and to the county ASC committee for cost sharing assistance. Approval and assistance were granted by both groups. As of now, two group jobs are done and two more will be completed soon.

Commenting further, Whitehead said: "When all contracts are completed, 3,155 acres of cropland will be directly benefited on 75 farms. All jobs were done on a mutual organized drainage group basis and will receive financial assistance through their ASC office by means of pooling agreements."

"I WOULDN'T be without my surface drainage system," declared Henry Piper, who lives in northeastern Ohio. "This year, with rain almost every other day, really was the clincher. Looks as though I'm going to have a real corn crop in spite of the wet weather," he continued.

During the spring of 1955, Piper built 2,500 feet of twin waterways, 1,000 feet of drainage terraces, and 1,500 feet of collection ditches. In addition, he established 10 acres of land in a bedding system of surface drainage layout.

Piper stated that after his 1955 and 1956 experiences, he would have had a complete crop failure this year on the 20-acre field, had it not been for his surface drainage system.

"All the fertilizer and lime I applied would have done little good if the corn had drowned out. It surely would have this year without drainage," he concluded.

Piper is a cooperarator of the Ash-tabula County Soil Conservation District. Ed Eccleston, U. S. Soil Conservation Service, has just completed the layout of another twin waterway on the Piper farm.

"ALFALFA-BROMEGRASS pasture is my most valuable crop," declared Sam Cook of Crawford County.

Cook, a dairyman farming 145 acres just east of Bucyrus, used rotational grazing to boost his gross returns to $110-$120 per acre, according to a recent study in cooperation with J. W. E. Dunbar, veterans agriculture instructor, at North Robinson.

Cook, who is in his eighth year of farming, uses the owner sampler method of testing to seek further improvement in his herd of 27 head of cattle. He believes that even with rotational grazing, which doubles the forage yield, too much good forage is wasted and that farmers, on a limited acreage, might well consider the use of so-called "zero" grazing, in which green forage is hauled directly to the cattle, if they are able to justify the additional investment.

He uses a top yielding 4-year corn-small grain-meadow rotation on the 100 acres of cropland. He worked out his farm conservation plan with the late John Baker, SCS technician, after he became a cooperarator with the District.

Record-Keeping Plan Outlined

More Profits Seen Under New System

Plans to launch a new, low-cost method of record-keeping designed to help dairy farmers put their operations on a more efficient and profitable basis will be discussed at a regional meeting in Chicago Sept. 24.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture and Extension Service representatives from Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin will participate in the discussion. C. D. McGrew, Ohio State University extension dairy specialist, will represent the Ohio Extension Service at the meeting.

The new dairy record-keeping system, called the "Weigh-a-Day-a-Month" plan, was developed by the Department of Agriculture in cooperation with state extension dairymen and the American Dairy Science Association to meet the record-keeping needs of the 9 out of 10 dairy farmers who do not keep production records on their cows.

The method simplifies milk recording to the single practice of weighing the milk output of each cow in a herd, morning and night, one day a month. The farmer weighs the milk himself.

USDA dairy officials see in the new plan an opportunity for dairymen not only to improve production efficiency but, through culling the low-producing cows, possibly to prevent some excess milk from reaching markets.

The Land Bank System was founded to meet farmers' needs

- Before The Land Banks And National Farm Loan Associations Were Established . . .

Interest rates were high.
Loan terms were short.
Renewals were costly and uncertain.
Credit was easy one year, tight the next.
Some areas had no credit at all.
There were no amortized loans.
Farmers had no voice in credit policies.

THE FARM LOAN SYSTEM CHANGED ALL THESE THINGS -- IT HAS PIONEERED THE WAY TO CREDIT SERVICE GEARED TO THE FARMERS' NEEDS.

Winter Wheat Profits Boosted When Fertilizer Added in Fall

College tests indicate fall fertilization can boost winter wheat yields as much as 14 bushels per acre.

Farmers who fertilize their winter wheat crop this fall at planting time can make higher profits despite average allotments.

That was the statement of the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee, in citing studies by college agronomists.

Preparing Lawn For Winter Season

Put your lawn in good condition for winter by feeding it this fall, advises Victor H. Ries, Ohio State University extension floriculturist.

You may use any complete commercial fertilizer, Ries says, and you may apply it any time within the next six weeks, but he suggests you do it as soon as possible if the ground is moist. For best results, use a spreader. It will distribute the fertilizer more evenly than you can do it by hand. Figure on from 3 to 4 pounds of fertilizer for each 100 square feet of lawn area.

Don't apply lime to your lawn unless it is needed, Ries says. Your county agent has soil sample containers and will arrange for the soil tests. The initial application of lime will be all that is needed for 10 or more years. Many lawn areas in the eastern half of the state would be improved by adding some lime.

Banks Finance Most Farmers

Changes in Methods Take New Capital

Ohio farmers met their credit needs during 1955 chiefly through loans from their banks, according to J. Roush Burton, president of The First National Bank, who represents the Ohio Bankers Association as Fayette County "key bank."

During the year, the state's banks provided far more financial aid to farmers than any other lending agency, he pointed out.

Using figures from the 15th annual farm lending survey of the agricultural commission of the American Bankers Association, Burton noted that on Jan. 1, Ohio banks had loans outstanding to farmers totaling $188,782,000, including both production and mortgage credit.

This compares with $50,534,000 held by insurance companies, second largest lender to Ohio farmers; $36,534,000 held by Federal Land Banks; $33,161,000 by Production Credit Associations; and $11,342,000 by the Farmers Home Administration.

The total of farm credit outstanding in banks was made up of $88,271,000 in production loans and $100,511,000 in farm mortgages. In addition, banks in Ohio held $20,586,000 in C.C.C. paper not included in the above total.

"THE EFFORTS of the state's banks to meet the increased needs for intermediate-term (one to five or more years) loans are reflected in the figures for both real estate and production loans outstanding," Burton said.

"It is estimated that about three-fourths of the farm real estate loans are for purposes normally associated with intermediate-length loans. This would include such projects as the purchase of new machinery, improvement of livestock herds, etc. Beyond that, a substantial portion of the production loans in banks at the beginning of 1956 carried a repayment period of longer than one year."

Burton gave several reasons for the increasing importance of intermediate-term credit in financing Ohio farmers. "First," he said, "farmers haven't had as much income to repay their obligations during recent years as they had during the war and early postwar years. Second, farm capital requirements have increased to a very high level. Finally, changing habits of farmers' customers have caused a notable shift to different cropping programs. Each farmer who has made such adjustments employed new capital to do it."

"These investments made through the use of intermediate-term credit have greatly contributed to more efficient farm businesses in Ohio and to a higher standard of living for all Americans," Burton said.

Burton reported that 598 of the 620 insured commercial banks in Ohio served agriculture by making farm loans during 1955.

Army Silently Ends 'Operation Fatso'

FT. CARSON, Colo. (AP) — A campaign to trim the waistlines of overweight soldiers at this Army post has ended without comment from the high brass.

The program, under which overweight officers and men were ordered to reduce or face court-martial proceedings, caused considerable consternation here and got widespread publicity, especially for Sgt. L. C. James Love, 34, of Cincinnati, a husky mess sergeant.

Ordered to reduce his weight from 212 pounds to 193, he said he will resign the Army in October after 12 years' service and join the Air Force, even though court-martial charges against him were dropped.

Togoland, in Africa, was taken over by the Germans as a protectorate in 1884, but fell to British and French troops during World War I.

A Farmer's Note Book

By THOMAS E. BERRY TEACHING A DOG TO DRIVE CATTLE

W. M. Wallace and Son, Hillsboro, Rt. 2, recently gave me a method of teaching a dog to drive cattle that is very satisfactory. They just took their dog along on three trips to bring in the dairy cattle using their tractor to drive them, which the dog likes very much. After that all they needed to do was to tell the dog to bring in the cattle and he would promptly do it. He soon learned to bring in only those that were being milked.

SENECA WHEAT

That is one of the new stiff strawed wheat varieties that is very popular in the corn belt. Milt Grabill of eastern Highland County reports raising this wheat this year. He says it stands up well and the quality is good, even if there is much rain and high wind. If you have never raised this wheat, I suggest that you try it for part of your crop this fall, as you will surely like it.

SIX MEALS A DAY

Mr. and Mrs. John L. Kier, Hillsboro Rt. 2, in southern Highland County report eating six small meals a day instead of three big ones. "We feel much better since we have been doing this," Mrs. Kier says.

We used this plan on the home farm, only we had five meals a day. The afternoon meal was brought to the field about 4 p. m. and a light meal was served before we went to bed. We used this plan only during very busy seasons and we found it a great help to all the members of the family.

"The self feeding plan of feeding livestock of all kinds is very satisfactory, but it is only in recent years that we used a similar plan in feeding the human race. Hundreds of large plants in the cities use this plan and report more work being done, and less fatigue by the workers."

"We use this method in the big plant we are working in and we like it very much," our daughter recently said when we were talking about this matter during one of her visits home.

GOOD PEACH VARIETIES

If you'd like to raise some of the best peaches that you'll find anywhere try the Cumberland and Belle of Georgia, both white freestone, very mild acid, and just about the right sugar content. The trees are hardy too and do very well in southern Ohio.

We recently bought peaches of these varieties at Owensville on U. S. 50, and liked them very much. If you expect your peaches to do the best handle the trees about like you would a tomato plant that you expect to bear heavily, only don't continue the cultivation much after August so the wood will mature and not be winter killed or injured like it may if the cultivation is continued late in the season and there is no time to ripen before frost.

We recently drove through the orchard section of northern Ohio along the southern shore of Lake Erie, where we saw very vigorous growing peach trees with dark green leaves and a big crop about to ripen. "Did you know that the material for the peach is made in the leaves very close to where the peach is attached?" That's why it is so essential to have vigorous trees with a dark green foliage, increasing vigor and a very strong and efficient manufacturing plant.

We can raise stone fruits like the peach and plum in southern Ohio, that is not excelled anywhere but still many home makers don't go to the trouble to set out trees. They surely make a big mistake then they miss the thrill of picking and eating their own peaches raised on their own trees.

WATER "We have come to the place where we are compelled to store more water," Frederick Bennett, fire chief of Hillsboro, recently pointed out, when I asked him if he sold much water to farmers.

"We don't sell as much as we did a few years ago, but we still have calls for it, especially from suburban folks and from farmers where the usual water supply is inadequate," he continued. Mr.

Bennett then said that there had been a lot of farm ponds made in southern Ohio in recent years, but that many more were needed. He is well sold on the bulldozer for making a pond; it is a machine that does the work in a hurry and at a much lower cost than you would have for any other means of construction.

If you are considering making a farm pond, it will pay you to call the soil conservation office or your county agent or vo-age teacher in your community. They can be of great help to you in locating a good site for your pond in making definite plans for the construction of the pond so that when it is made it will be satisfactory and will not be washed out in a few years.

It would be a good plan to make a large cistern near the home and possibly one at the barn, as a good cistern of water may be the means of saving a building from being burned down.

GOOD SOIL FERTILITY IDEAS

I recently had the pleasure of visiting awhile with one of the very best farmers in southern Ohio. He thinks that the young farmers buy too much fertilizer and that they should raise more clover, plow under heavier sods, put more roughage through the barns by feeding it to livestock and when a field comes around for corn to cover as much of the field as you can with manure.

His farm practices are good—very good, but he could build up his land faster by buying more fertilizer, and using the kind recommended for his soil as indicated by a soil analysis. We've just begun to farm; we've surely got a lot to learn about it.

The very best information about how to farm comes from the man who is a careful observer, who is open minded and willing to try new things, at least in a small way, until he has learned their value for him on his own farm.

GOOD PASTURE GRASS COMBINATION

"Ches" Baldwin of Brushcreek Township in Eastern Highland County reports very heavy yields of pasture by seeding Ladino Clover, Timothy and Korean Lespedeza. He says it is one of the best pasture grass combinations he has ever used.

Mr. Baldwin sowed Sudan Grass this spring using 30 lbs. per acre and fertilized it with 500 lbs. of 5-10-10 fertilizer.

The 10 acres provided an abundance of pasture for 20 head of milk cows for seven weeks and they still have plenty of pasture.

"If you are using Sudan Grass for pasture, be sure to take the stock off before heavy frost, as this grass crop may cause forage poisoning."

This Sudan Grass will be plowed under in the early fall and sowed to Rye for early spring pasturing for dairy cattle.

SUFFOLK SHEEP

This is a breed of sheep that is very popular with some farmers in Southern Ohio. They are white with black faces and black legs, that are free from wool. Sam Westlake and Sons, R. F. D. 1, Marysville, Ohio, report raising yearling bucks weighing from 240 lbs. to 260 lbs. These sheep will shear well too and are quiet and easy to care for.

FIRE PREVENTION

Frederick Bennett of Hillsboro recently spoke to the Hillsboro Grange on fire prevention and made the following practical suggestions for avoiding a fire.

(1) "Avoid overloading the electric circuit in your home," Mr. Bennett said. He says this is a common cause of many fires.

(2) Many fires are caused by carelessness, he says and can eas-

Swine Influenza Danger Is Now

Warning Issued To Aid Farmers

The American Foundation for Animal Health today issued a warning to hog producers that the season is now here for one of the nation's most costly swine diseases, influenza.

Hog producers should be alert for such symptoms as loss of appetite, deep coughing, difficulty breathing, and reddened watery eyes. Foundation officials warn that this is a disease condition which spreads very rapidly making prompt action necessary to prevent severe losses.

Heavy flu losses do not involve actual deaths in most cases, if the animals are given good care and treatment at the earliest sign of sickness. The chief reason for losses comes from loss of weight while the animal is running a fever and from a chronic lung infection if the sick animals are neglected.

ECONOMIC losses may be particularly heavy in breeding stock since pregnant sows frequently give birth to dead pigs, or to pigs that are too weak to survive.

There is additional danger from this condition because influenza can be confused with several other serious hog diseases. Accurate diagnosis is of prime importance when symptoms resembling flu are encountered in a herd, authorities say.

Dry, well-ventilated hog houses that are clean and free from drafts, and with plenty of good, dry bedding are recommended as precautionary measures against the disease.

Angus Cattle Sale By Five Breeders Here on Sept. 26

Three bulls, 45 steers and 60 females have been consigned to the Fall Classic Production Sale of Aberdeen-Angus cattle at the Fairground here on the afternoon of Sept. 26 by five breeders, four of them in Fayette County and one in Pickaway County.

The four Fayette County consignors are Colin C. Campbell of the Jeffersonville Pike, Fayette Farms, Inc., of the Greenfield Pike, Jesse Hagler & Sons of the Lewis Pike and Worley W. Melvin of the Creek Rd.

Pickaway Countian is J. H. Caldwell whose farm is near Ashville.

This is the production sale to be held jointly by these five breeders of registered Aberdeen-Angus cattle here.

The three bulls were described as "outstanding, both from a pedigree standpoint and individuality." In the consignment of females are heifer calves, open heifers and bred heifer mated to well bred bulls. Many of these are considered show prospects for next year.

The steer consignment is regarded as including good prospects for boys and girls looking for 4-H club projects. The steers are slated for sale following the sale of the breeding cattle.

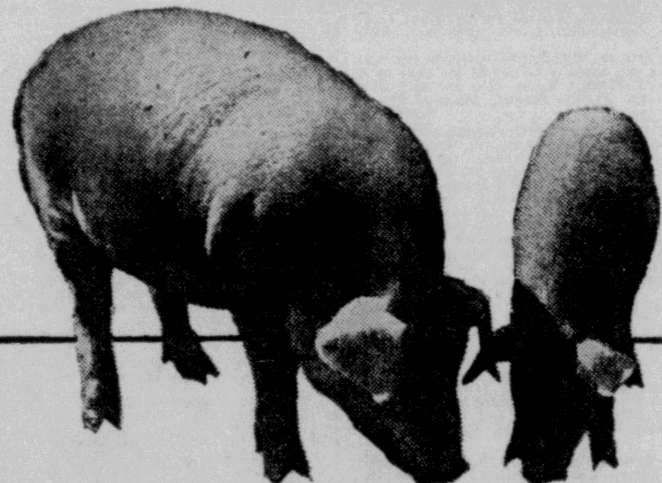

The auctioneers are to be Paul Good of Van Wert and Merlin Woodruff of Urbana. Roy Hagler is the sale manager.

Lunch will be served on the ground.

ily be prevented. I was surprised to learn from his talk that more people are killed by accidents than in all our wars, and that more children die from accidents than from any other cause.

Corn, Soybean Crops Look Good in Midwestern Areas

CHICAGO — Vicious midsummer tornados and high winds did scattered damage over the Corn Belt in early August. One of the hardest hit areas was in west central Iowa where an extremely heavy hail storm over an area of 10 to 12 counties caused the governor to request federal aid for the stricken area. Iowa has undoubtedly had more hail damage this year than for a long time. Over a million acres of crops have now been almost ruined in the state by hail.

Creosote Saves Doors of Silos

Experiment Station Reports on Studies

Silo doors treated with creosote will resist leaching by silage liquors, says W. K. Murphey, department of forestry, Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station.

Dismantling of farm cement block durability silos used at the experiment station for 11 years gave researchers a chance to see the effects of silage liquors on silo doors.

During the process an average of 8.5 pounds of creosote per cubic foot was forced into 20 silo doors made from beech, red oak, hard maple and white oak lumber. Twenty-four other doors were made from untreated lumber of the same species and painted with aluminum paint.

Average amount of creosote left in the treated doors after 11 years was 8.15 pounds per cubic foot. This is above the amount needed to protect the wood from decay and insects, states Murphey.

All untreated doors showed signs of decay or chemical deterioration, but none of the treated doors showed these signs. This test showed that conditions in a silo will not remove enough preservative to contaminate the silage. Moreover, creosoted wood used in silos does not lose its protection against attack from decay and insects.

But these hail storms are usually accompanied by heavy rains, and areas outside of the hail belt in eastern Iowa and Illinois were greatly benefited by rains up to 2 inches. DeKalb's Illinois crop reporters say that corn and soybean crops never have looked better.

An occasional threat to corn in humid seasons is corn leaf blight with the official name of helminthosporium. It is now beginning to appear in central and southern Illinois and Indiana and might spread rapidly. It starts out as boat-shaped blighted spots on the middle leaves of the plant.

Under favorable weather conditions, these spots enlarge to affect much of the leaf surface, giving the plant a frosted appearance. Where the leaf surface is heavily affected, ears ripen prematurely with an equivalent reduction in yield and quality.

In the northern Corn Belt, in Minnesota particularly, farmers are concerned about the lateness of the corn crop. Cool July and August temperatures with much cloudy, rainy weather have slowed down plant development so that the corn crop there has fallen from a week to 20 days behind normal development.

These same showery conditions have caused a big loss in combining the oat crop. Harvest has been slowed, quality damaged and part of the oats crop actually lost.

Kefauver Believes Voters 'Liberal'

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Estes Kefauver, Democratic candidate for vice president, believes that the people of America "want government with a heart."

"The people of the nation are liberal, not reactionary," Kefauver said.

"The voters of this nation, therefore, are Democratic, not Republican," Kefauver said that for the last four years "the doors of the White House, like the doors of the San Francisco Cow Palace, have not been open on an equal basis for all."

Clues To Need for Plant Food Are Disclosed by Soil Tests

Five steps for taking accurate soil samples were listed here by the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee, based on suggestions by Purdue University agronomists:

1. Pick an area on your farm that is uniform in color and soil texture—one which has had similar cropping and fertilizer treatment.
2. Avoid mixing soils that are light and dark colored, or those with a different crop history or past fertilizer treatment.
3. Use a sampling tube, auger or shovel to remove a small sample from surface to plow depth.
4. Stay away from fertilizer bands in row crops, farm lanes, field borders, feeding areas, sand ridges and areas within 100 feet of gravel roads.
5. Mix the samples representing one area thoroughly in a clean pail. Spread out the final mixture to dry. Use enough of this mixture to fill one soil carton.

Agonomists advise sampling soils this summer and early fall, and sending them promptly to the soil testing laboratory. This will give plenty of leeway for the soil testing results to be back in time for fall ordering of fertilizer.

Soil sampling instructions, forms to fill out and shipping containers can be obtained from local county agents or fertilizer dealers.

Extra grazing days, plus thicker, higher-quality grass come from fall-fertilized permanent pastures.

"Purdue agronomists point out that soil tests are only as good as the samples a farmer takes from his field," says the committee. "Hence it pays to make as accurate samples as possible."

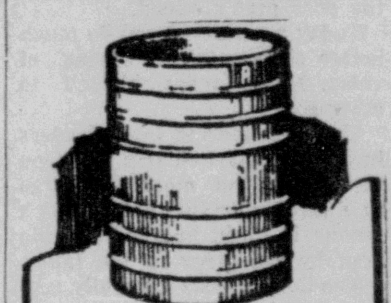

"Soil tests can provide a good guide for determining the plant food reserves of the soil. They can help a farmer provide his crops with the balanced fertility needed to get profitable returns from his investment in fertilizer."

Biologists Build Up Mexico's Oyster Beds

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Biologists of the Marine Department are working to build up the population of oyster beds off the Mexican coasts.

Yield of the beds had been declining. Among other reasons, officials say, has been fishing in off seasons, which reduced the number of reproducers.

Courthouse Murals Attracting Wide Publicity

Once again Washington C. H. has been brought into the spotlight by publicity over the country in a favorable way to reflect credit upon this community.

This is the result of the recent reported discovery that the beautiful mural paintings in the Fayette County Courthouse were the work of Archibald M. Willard, whose celebrated painting "Spirit of '76", made him nationally famous.

In the years to come, those who have knowledge of the value of this mural work here, declare that this will be certain to attract thousands of people interested in such works of art, from many places, to come here to view Willard's work.

It is indeed surprising that for nearly three quarters of a century these paintings in our Courthouse, which are said to have been admired by many lovers of art, could have been seen without the name of the artist who did the work being known.

Especially is this true when close examination of this work, revealed the name and address of the artist, on one of the paintings.

These murals are something to which all Fayette County people can point with genuine pride. Commendable indeed is the prompt action taken by the Fayette County Historical Society and the present Board of Fayette County Commissioners, in making the immediate plans to have these murals properly illuminated, and marked for what they are.

Perhaps it may be considered a little early for most people to fully realize the great value of these reported art treasures uncovered in this community but as time marches on the fame of these paintings is certain to spread and draw hosts of admirers of historic art work, to visits here.

It is interesting to note that the Fayette County Historical Society, with approval of the county commissioners, is to sponsor an "open house" soon when the general public will have opportunity to view these murals, properly lighted.

There Are Careers . . . and Careers

By George Sokolsky

Politicians differ from statesmen and idealists in the techniques they employ to achieve their ends.

A statesman usually is a person of broad vision, of deep insight, whose devotion is to his country, not to his own career. The idealist selects, rationally or emotionally, a concept of life to which he is willing not only to devote but to give his life.

Politicians usually take life wherever they can find it. Few politicians worry about the means they employ to achieve their careers. As one politician once put it to me: he said he is a humanitarian; he loves the humane human race without distinction, particularly those who have votes.

Back in my childhood, I used to see the politicians buy votes. The going price was two dollars. A father with three sons would try to get $10 if he could, but the politician preferred to give him eight. Whatever the district captain could save from buying votes, he pocketed.

Therefore there was fierce bargaining. Tammany captains were much better than the Republican pressure groups of which there are all kinds. Back in the 1930's and 1940's, in many areas, it paid the politicians to be liberals and to serve pressure groups on that side; in some states, it paid the politicians to be anti-Negro as in others it paid to be pro-Negro.

To most politicians, no great principles were involved. It was a matter of common sense. The elements to fear were those that were organized and as it was not good politics to fight them, the smartest thing to do was to join them. When it came to a question of money, it was, in those days, and in some places even today, sounder to get money from labor unions than from any cans, because they could do favors all the year round, like getting a license for a push - cart peddle or getting citizenship papers for a newly-arrived immigrant, or getting a bad son off with a suspended sentence.

They could get jobs, not only political jobs but jobs for unskilled workers on street cars or digging the new subway. Therefore Tammany was regarded as the poor man's friend.

Today a politician can do much better than outright buying of votes. He attaches himself to other source.

The racketeering labor leaders have been particularly easy on the dough, but most of it was paid off "under the table," which means in cash, no record being kept by the giver or the taker.

The Communists generally support politicians who are non-Communists but soft for certain kinds of sentimentalities upon which the Communists can play. The record shows that this was not a haphazard operation in the 1930's and the 1940's but that special Communist Party officials were designated to discover individuals—careerists, they called them—whom they could make grateful and whom they could see for longer or shorter periods.

The careerists were not expected to be grateful for too long a period, as it was anticipated that sooner or later they would find some reason for being grateful to somebody else, usually to a liberal millionaire who developed a private collection of politicians.

Sometimes it is very difficult to discern where a politician really belongs, but a clue can often be found by tracing down his press agent, euphemistically called a public relations counsel.

It can at times be found that one such person is handling a number of people, millionaires-on-the-loose, careerist politicians, Republicans, Democrats, great public officials and even manufacturers and storekeepers. If the relationships are charted and studied carefully, a political complex is disclosed. It has even happened that the press agent plays a more significant political role than those who appear to be clients.

One problem that the careerist faces is that he might be embarrassed when there is a conflict of interest among his supporters. Communists for instance, have ruined more than one career by letting a man's connection to them leak out. But they do not make false claims because they realize that everything is subject to check.

Some day Americans will ask for a better grade of politicians, not quite for statesmen of whom there are too few and not quite for idealists who are very scarce indeed.

But they will ask for a politician who makes his career in some other way than by association with pressure groups.

Mrs. Wieland Is Hostess At Club Meeting

Mrs. Ray Wieland, the new president of the Fayette Home Demonstration Club conducted the first meeting of the new year, held at the home of Mrs. Everett Smith, with thirteen members present.

The evening was taken up with the re-organizing of the club and the planning of projects to be adopted throughout the year.

The October meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Leona Dadds, and the project for that meeting will be "Spicing the Costume" which includes accessories.

At the close of the meeting, Mrs. Wieland served dainty refreshments and the members enjoyed a social hour.

Adult Class Plans Projects At Meeting

The Wesley Adult Class of the White Oak Grove Church held its regular monthly meeting in the church basement. The meeting was in charge of the president, Eugene Eyre. The usual reports were given and approved and plans were made for the coming year.

The class voted to install the new sink in the kitchen of the church, also to purchase serving carts needed in the dining room.

Plans were also made to assist the WSCS with the chicken supper September 26.

The overall remodeling of the kitchen was discussed and the blue prints studied. Round robin cards were sent to members in the hospital and the meeting was adjourned.

Refreshments were served by the social committee, Mrs. Russell Lamm, Miss Jean Powers, Miss Jean Palmer, and Miss Francis Haines during the social hour.

Special Plans Made By Club For Oct. Meeting

The Round Robin Home Makers Home Demonstration Club of Bookwalter met at the home of Mrs. John Hidy.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. John Hidy and nine of the 14 members were present. The main discussion at the meeting was plans for programs for the coming year.

"Blood Donor Pledge Cards" were given to each member with the hopes that some members would answer the call of the Red Cross.

The next meeting will be held October 8 and the subject will be "Spice Up Your Costume," and Mrs. Norma Cunningham will be present to suggest accessories.

Mrs. Laban Pierce will wear at the meeting a dressy suit, Mrs. Joseph Eilers in a basic dress, Mrs. John Hidy in a basic suit and Mrs. Russell Hall in a multicolor dress.

A tempting dessert course was served at one long table and smaller tables centered with fall flowers from Mrs. Hughey's garden and Miss Lillie Henkle assisted Mrs. Hughey in the serving.

The remainder of the afternoon was spent as usual in informal visiting.

Mrs. Murry included as guests with a nearly full attendance of members, Mrs. Glenn Pine, Mrs. George Cheney and Mrs. Virgil Dwyer.

CTS Class Holds Meeting In Church House

The September meeting of the Charlotte Tuttle Sisterhood Class of First Presbyterian Church was held in the Church House with thirteen members present.

The business session was presided over by Mrs. C. A. Briggs, president.

Miss Emma Jackson, devotional leader, gave a reading entitled "Promises" and closed with prayer.

Mrs. Adna Grove conducted an impressive Memorial service for Mrs. Charles Strevey, a member recently deceased.

The usual reports were followed with the singing of a round robin card to Mrs. Regina Staubus, who is a patient in a Rest Home.

The meeting was closed with the Mizpah benediction and a social hour followed during which the hostess committee, Mrs. Gertrude Hyde, Mrs. Fanny Smith and Mrs. Lena Smith served tempting refreshments.

Miss Thompson Is Leader at Class Meeting

Twenty-three members of the Open Circle Class of Grace Methodist Church assembled at the home of Mrs. Horatio Wilson, for the regular monthly meeting.

Mrs. Madge Pensyl, class teacher, led in the opening devotionals, which included Scripture reading from First Corinthians, a poem entitled "Talking to God" and closed with prayer.

Miss Edna Thompson, president of the class, conducted the brief business session, during which the usual reports were given and also those of standing committees.

A nice sum was added to the treasury made up of contributions by members for the "Dollar Month."

A lengthy discussion was held on projects which will be selected and adopted at the October meeting.

The meeting was adjourned following the class benediction and during a period of informal visiting tempting refreshments were served by Mrs. Wilson and her assistant hostesses: Mrs. O. E. Bonnell, Mrs. Jess Todd, Miss Clara Wood, Mrs. A. W. Duff and Mrs. W. J. Hilty.

Elmwood Aid Holds Meeting

Mrs. Foster Wickle, president, conducted the monthly meeting of the Elmwood Ladies Aid which was held at the home of Mrs. B. H. Crouse, who included five guests.

Miss Delores Cadwallader was in charge of the opening devotions, which consisted of recordings of hymns and also "The Lord's Prayer."

The secretary and treasurer's reports were given and the flower and card chairman also gave her report.

Mrs. Ola Bush, treasurer, gave a report of the Lawn Fete held in July, which netted a nice sum to that treasury and also the miniature apron project which was held for the purpose of replenishing the treasury.

The twenty-six members presented reported 129 calls made during the past two months, and those having birthdays during this month were serenaded with "Happy Birthday" sung by the group. Mrs. Albert J. Atkinson was welcomed into the society as a new member and the meeting was closed with the benediction.

During the social hour, Miss Cadwallader again entertained the members and guests with recordings and Mrs. Crouse assisted by Mrs. Mark Haines, Mrs. Harley Stackhouse, Mrs. William Gosney and Miss Cadwallader served a seasonal refreshment course.

More Hospital Tests Scheduled

COLUMBUS (AP)—Mrs. Blanche E. Jacobs, who faces two first-degree murder charges in the July 2 slaying of her landlord and his wife, will spend an additional 30 days in Lima State Hospital, Franklin County Prosecutor Samuel L. Devine said today.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Robinson were killed in their home next door to the Jacobs residence in suburban Groveport.

Church Society Holds Meeting At Foster Home

Mrs. Clifford Foster was hostess to 15 members of the Gleaners Class of the McNair Memorial Presbyterian Church and her home was tastefully decorated with roses from the hostess' garden.

The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. Willis McCoy, reading Scripture from Second Corinthians and the Indian version of the Twenty-Third Psalm, which was followed with the praying of the Lord's Prayer.

The devotional period was in charge of Mrs. Laura Dellinger and Mrs. Fanny Johnson. Mrs. Dellinger read Scripture from Mark and Mrs. Johnson read an article "Out of a Pure Heart."

The business meeting consisted of the usual reports, and an offering was taken for the building fund.

The meeting was closed with the class benediction and during the social hour, Mrs. Edna Smeck showed pictures taken on a recent trip to New York.

Later, refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Bessie Sanders and Mrs. Merrill Looker.

Remodeling and Expansion Plan for Library Is Taking Form

New Entrance At Street Level To Be First Step

Washington C. H. and Fayette County have outgrown the Carnegie Public Library, at East and North streets, but it may take three or four years before plans for remodeling it to make more room can be completed.

However, if everything goes according to plan, a new entrance at the ground level may be in use by this time next year. That is the first step in the program designed to make it possible to utilize all the space in the full basement.

The new entrance seems assured now that county Budget Commission has approved the library budget of $21,000 for next year.

A decision to remodel the library was, in a way, forced on the board when a building inspector told it the stone steps up to the front entrance were disintegrating and that, in spite of the patching, should be replaced.

With the steps virtually condemned, the board moved to draw up plans for the alterations that would make the entrance on the ground level and take out the present steps to the main lobby on what amounts to the second floor.

INCLUDED in the budget for next year was $4,000 for the work. This, it was explained, would be added to the $5,000 which the board had managed to save by judicious operation, to cover the estimated cost of $9,000 for the work.

According to plans that have been drawn, steps would lead to the main floor from the lobby just inside the new ground level entrance.

While the new entrance is the first step—and a big one—it will be only the beginning.

In the basement are five rooms, which are now filled with books; the board feels could be utilized as reading rooms, a place for handling the 3,500-plus books that are distributed regularly among the county schools and a place for keeping the steadily growing collections of books.

Literally thousands of books are now jammed into every nook and cranny of the basement. It all has the outward appearance of a jumble, but actually the books are stacked in orderly arrangements.

Mrs. Florence Cook, the librarian, said with a sigh, "we are getting so many books there is hardly any place left to keep them where they are readily available to the people."

Gradually, she said, the books are being sorted and those not used are being disposed of to make room for others.

THE LIBRARY was built in 1903-1904 with a gift of $15,000 from the Carnegie Foundation for that purpose.

When the $21,000 budget was submitted, the board, which has been keeping the library going on a shoestring year after year, asked members of the Budget Commission to come and go over the building so the needs and the plans could be shown to them first hand.

Members of the commission, Treasurer Charles A. Fabb, chairman Auditor Harry Allen and Prosecutor John Bath, after going over the library and the plans approved the budget and complimented the board and library staff on the vision that had been used in planning for the future.

In a letter to the commission, that accompanied the budget, the board pointed out that "because of our low salary rate, we are unable to get qualified, professional librarians, so our state aid for this year is very uncertain."

The board also noted that "since our funds from the county usually are paid in May and October, we plan to have a balance to operate the library for the first half of the ensuing year."

The board pointed out, in support of its plan to utilize the space in the basement through a remodeling program, that "so many older people have had to discon-

Highway Cost Pay Plan Still Subject for Debate

COLUMBUS (P)—A shift in the thinking by Ohio's governor and the state's highway director appears to have had little effect on a stand taken by the Ohio Highway Construction Council.

Friday, both Gov. Frank J. Lausche and Highway Director S. O. Linzell said they believed the state and cities should split the 10 per cent cost of building major highways within municipalities.

Both the governor and Linzell previously felt cities should pay the entire 10 per cent of construction costs with the federal government contributing 90 per cent.

The compromise of the highway director and the governor left the Highway Construction Council holding out for 10 per cent city participation. The council has the final say on how construction money shall be spent on major thoroughfares.

Clingan Jackson, chairman of the council, said after being informed of the latest action that he contemplates no change in the council's position. The council will meet here Tuesday.

Jackson said he still favors the 90-10 formula. He said he has not received Linzell's official recommendations, but said the council's position would not delay any construction.

"I don't know any city projects to be put under contract this year which would start before the next building season," he said.

Asked what he would do if the construction council held to its position, Linzell said:

"If they say no, I would consider a check with the attorney general to see just what their powers really are."

Linnell said the council claims control over the spending of construction money on any federal aid roads.

"That's the hooker on it," he observed.

Linzell said the council claims the use of the library because of the steps that we hope to be able to open the basement for public use at some future time. By making this new entrance on the ground level we feel we are coming closer to the time when we can make the basement available for public use and more room for our books."

Ed Fite is president of the board; W. Stanley Paxson, vice president; Mrs. C. D. Young, secretary; and Mrs. J. Earl Gidding, Forrest Ellis and Mrs. Ronald Cornwell the other members.

Lausche will not be in the statehouse next year since he is seeking election to the U. S. Senate.

The two candidates for the governorship, Democrat Michael DiSalle and Republican William O'Neill, each has stated he favors the 90-5-5 plan.

Lausche issued this statement: "Whether Mr. DiSalle and Mr. O'Neill, in taking the positions they did, are fully informed with all of the problems confronting the 10 cities of the interstate system and the 129 cities that are not on it and the problems of those communities having approximately 5,100 miles of major thoroughfares not on the interstate system, I do not know."

"One or the other will be governor at a time when the problems of all of the local governments will become known to them."

"They will then keenly understand that the solution of the entire problem will require new action by the state."

"Undoubtedly, in conformity with the regulations of the federal highway bill and the fact that through the huge increase in automobile traffic, a new study of highway needs and the formula under which the state distributes its money (1) by action of the Legislature, and (2) by the Highway Construction Council will have to be made."

"There is no doubt in my mind that the distribution of highway funds recommended to the highway construction council by the highway department is just and equitable. I am not certain whether the distribution made by legislative direction is fair and just. Paramount in my mind is that during the interim in which a complete survey of the entire problem can be made, that there should be no delay in the initiation of the construction work so vitally needed in the big cities."

"To that end I have suggested as early as two weeks ago that an interim program be worked out. My hopes are that the members of the Highway Construction Council, when such an interim program is submitted, will act favorably upon it."

Big Rubber Firms Set Up Supplemental Idle Pay Plan

AKRON, Ohio (P)—A formula for providing supplemental unemployment benefits for nearly 100,000 production workers throughout the country was disclosed Friday by the rubber industry's "big four" companies and the United Rubber Workers Union.

Agreement on plans for the benefits was announced earlier this week by the union and the B. F. Goodrich Co., Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. and U.S. Rubber Co.

A contract negotiated by these four firms and other rubber companies last July provided for wage increases of 6.2 cents an hour and 3 cents an hour for each worker to be used for supplemental unemployment benefits.

A fund from which the benefit payments would be made was started with the signing of the contract. The fund for the "Big Four" companies is expected to reach about 15 million dollars in three years, when the program is expected to reach its peak.

First payments will not be made until next July. A worker must have at least a year's service to be eligible for the benefits.

The basic amount that a worker may receive is 65 per cent of his regular weekly earnings after taxes, less the amount of state un-

Unusual Real Estate Transfer Recorded in Fayette County

Behind the routine real estate transfer entry of "United States of America to Enoch Ingram" in the big book in the office of the Fayette County recorder, there is a story that is unusual in this section which, for years, has been devoted almost exclusively to agriculture and livestock—that is, it was until the last year.

This transfer by the government to Ingram was not of land, but of three-fourths of the mineral rights it retained when the farm was sold nearly 20 years ago.

Only rarely have mineral rights ever been involved in transfers here. But all this changed suddenly less than a year ago after the Kenanee Oil Co. of Oklahoma City sent representatives here to get oil and gas leases. Later at least two other similar companies have shown an interest in oil and gas leases.

How many of these leases have been signed by landowners is conjectural, because they have not yet been recorded in volume, but from unofficial sources indications are that several thousand acres have been leased.

This sudden interest in the possibility of gas and oil under Fayette County's fertile farm land may, or may not, have been a factor in the real estate entry of "United States of America to Enoch Ingram." Ingram did not mention it when the transfer was recorded.

THE BACKGROUND of the transfer came to light with a casual question put to Mrs. Eloise Johnson, the recorder. She explained that it represented the release of the three-fourths mineral rights the government retained when it sold the land, a part of the government's Scioto Farms project in southeastern Wayne Township.

The Scioto Farms project was designed to set up family-type farms as a part of the recovery program the Roosevelt administration put into effect during the depression of the 1930s. The farms, ranging in size from about 50 to 60 acres, were sold without down payment on a long-term purchase agreement, but the government retained a three-fourths interest in mineral rights.

There were 15 small farms in the Scioto Farms development on the tract bought by the government for that purpose from Tom Junk. Homes and farm buildings were put up on each of the 15 farms.

The plat was completed in 1937 and the first families moved into their new homes soon afterward. But, since then, after the farms were paid for, ownership has changed; some owners bought all or parts of adjoining farms, but the government's mineral rights went with the land.

It was to free the land from these mineral rights that owners are now buying them from the government for $1, presumably to cover the cost of the paper work (and there is lots of it) involved.

Mrs. Johnson said two other owners had bought the mineral rights on their farms from the government recently. They are Capt. Haggard of the Washington C. H. police force and Scott Cardiff.

Grader-Traders Swapped to Cops

WICHITA, Kas. (P)—The car-hop at the drive-in food and drink spot did a quick double-take when she found two men atop a 20-foot road grader instead of an auto, demanding service.

The men, tipsily still waiting for service, were taken into custody.

They'd just traded a cafe for the grader, they told officers, and planned to trade the grader for something else.

employment compensation he receives and any other money he earns through odd jobs while he is laid off. However maximum supplemental payment which may be received by any worker who is eligible for state unemployment compensation is $25 a week, plus $2 for each of not more than four dependents.

Two plans were announced for making supplemental payments in states, like Ohio, where unemployed workers are barred from receiving supplemental benefits while they are getting state unemployment compensation.

Plan One calls for payment of a lump sum at the end of the worker's eligibility for state compensation. The sum would be equal to the total supplemental payments the worker would have received had the state permitted collection of both supplemental benefits and unemployment compensation at the same time.

Plan Two calls for the worker to file for state unemployment compensation the first two weeks he is out of work and collect a three-week payment of supplemental benefits the third week—following this plan for each three-week period of his eligibility for unemployment compensation.

Unusual Real Estate Transfer Recorded in Fayette County

Behind the routine real estate transfer entry of "United States of America to Enoch Ingram" in the big book in the office of the Fayette County recorder, there is a story that is unusual in this section which, for years, has been devoted almost exclusively to agriculture and livestock—that is, it was until the last year.

This transfer by the government to Ingram was not of land, but of three-fourths of the mineral rights it retained when the farm was sold nearly 20 years ago.

Only rarely have mineral rights ever been involved in transfers here. But all this changed suddenly less than a year ago after the Kenan Oil Co. of Oklahoma City sent representatives here to get oil and gas leases. Later at least two other similar companies have shown an interest in oil and gas leases.

How many of these leases have been signed by landowners is conjectural, because they have not yet been recorded in volume, but from unofficial sources indications are that several thousand acres have been leased.

This sudden interest in the possibility of gas and oil under Fayette County's fertile farm land may, or may not, have been a factor in the real estate entry of "United States of America to Enoch Ingram;" Ingram did not mention it when the transfer was recorded.

THE BACKGROUND of the transfer came to light with a casual question put to Mrs. Eloise Johnson, the recorder. She explained that it represented the release of the three-fourths mineral rights the government retained when it sold the land, a part of the government's Scioto Farms project in southeastern Wayne Township.

The Scioto Farms project was designed to set up family-type farms as a part of the recovery program the Roosevelt administration put into effect during the depression of the 1930s. The farms, ranging in size from about 50 to 60 acres, were sold without down payment on a long-term purchase agreement, but the government retained a three-fourths interest in mineral rights.

There were 15 small farms in the Scioto Farms development on the tract bought by the government for that purpose from Tom Junk. Homes and farm buildings were put up on each of the 15 farms.

The plat was completed in 1937 and the first families moved into their new homes soon afterward. But, since then, after the farms were paid for, ownership has changed; some owners bought all or parts of adjoining farms, but the government's mineral rights went with the land.

It was to free the land from these mineral rights that owners are now buying them from the government for $1, presumably to cover the cost of the paper work (and there is lots of it) involved.

Mrs. Johnson said two other owners had bought the mineral rights on their farms from the government recently. They are Capt. Haggard of the Washington C. H. police force and Scott Cardiff.

Grader-Traders Swapped to Cops

WICHITA, Kas. (AP)—The car-hop at the drive-in food and drink spot did a quick double-take when she found two men atop a 20-foot road grader instead of an auto, demanding service.

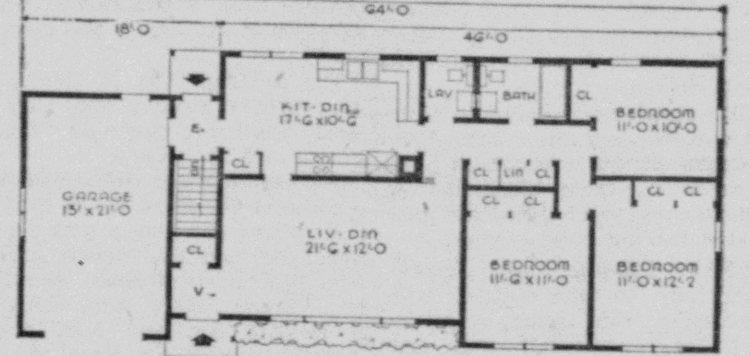

She told the boss, who called police.

The men, tipsily still waiting for service, were taken into custody. They'd just traded a cafe for the grader, they told officers, and planned to trade the grader for something else.

Lions Upset Linden, 20-13, in Opener Here

Fighting Spirit And Gambles Pay For WHS Gridders

Courage and gamble... combined with some smart and alert football, good timing and a never-say-die spirit... gave the Lions of Washington C. H. High School a 20 to 13 upset victory over a big and rugged bunch of Panthers from Linden McKinley High School in the opening game of the football season at Gardner Park here Friday night.

The mighty mites in the blue and white, undaunted by a quick touchdown by the Panthers in two minutes and four plays after the kickoff, came back with grim determination to score twice in the second period to take the lead that was tied once but never topped.

Outweighed an average of 15 pounds apiece, the Lions battered the inside of the Linden defense play after play and ground out the yardage slowly but surely to keep the Panthers off balance.

By keeping the possession of the ball, the Lions reduced the chances of the Panthers to get their offense rolling consistently.

With disdain for the Linden defense, the Lions took their first big gamble midway of the third period when, with fourth down and two yards to go, Capt. John Bainter sent Left halfback Roger McLean bangin' right through the middle instead of playing it safe and punting.

THE PLAY caught the Panthers by surprise and McLean not only made it first down but added 6 yards for a good measure.

This play could well have been one of the decisive ones of the game, for it left the Panthers so stunned that it set up the second WHS touchdown five plays later.

One of those five plays was a 28-yard pass from Bainter to Kenneth Evans and another was a spectacular 19-yard touchdown dash by McLean through right guard. Bainter's kick was wide. The first half ended 24 seconds later, with the score 13 to 7 in favor of WHS.

When the Panthers scored their first TD in two minutes on straight football, it looked like the Lions were in for a drubbing—to everyone but the boys on the field. After the Panthers kicked off following their TD, the Lions made two first downs and fumbled on the 40-yard line. The Panthers recovered and appeared to be touchdown-bound, but were held on the 5-yard line, where the Lions took over to start drive that carried them to pay dirt.

The scoring play, the first of the season for the Lions, came on a perfectly executed pass from McLean to Eldon Brown who crossed the goal line standing up.

COMING BACK from the intermission, the Panthers evened the score when John May climaxed a 70-yard drive with a 2-yard smash. With the score deadlocked, the Lions were in no mood to settle for a tie—they were out to win. After being held to a net gain of 7 yards in the rest of the third period, they gambled twice on the fourth down and it paid off. At the start of the last period, the Lions had the ball on the 28-yard line and, after gaining only 8 yards in three plays, were faced with fourth down and 2 to go deep in their own territory. Bainter took a chance and handed off to Evans who wriggled through the middle for a first down with 3 yards to spare.

After three plays had gained only 8 yards to the 47, the Lions again were faced with a fourth down and 2 yards to go. And, again Capt. Bainter gambled and sent McLean through guard. For the third time, the Lions made the gamble pay.

From there on they went down the field to a touchdown with the help of a couple of spectacular wide end sweeps by Baigter, one for 28 yards to the 17-yard line. Evans took it to the 14-yard line and on the next play Bainter went over with the Panthers far behind him.

AFTER the Lion kickoff, the Panthers drove to the 44-yard line where Dick Noe, the Panther speed merchant, fumbled and McLean recovered. That was the turning point in the game.

A fourth Lion touchdown was killed by the clock. The final gun sounded just as the ball was snapped on the one yard line. After McLean recovered that fumble, the Lions marched steadily downfield over a demoralized Panther squad.

The Lions tried two passes, and completed each of them, one for 28 yards and a touchdown by Brown and the other for 24 yards to set up McLean's scoring dash.

The Panthers made passes, two of them jump passes over the line and the other for 13 yards.

Head Coach Fred Domenico of the Lions was beaming with pride after the game. He was liberal with praise of the boys as he said "that's what I meant when I said they had heart."

He also passed along some of the credit to Backfield Coach Dick Filbin, who analyzed the play from the press box and telephoned a word picture of the game, step by step, to Domenico on the bench.

"Filbin called the pass that brought the Lions their first touchdown," Domenico revealed. It was sent in to Capt. Bainter by a substitute. This was the only play sent in, he said, although four suggestions were made.

All the rest of the game was called by Bainter, he added. The

Fight Pilot Mintz Just Lost Control

WASHINGTON (AP)—To the folks back in Pittsburgh: Jake Mintz and his "new sensation," middle-weight Willie Greaves, are not having a wonderful time on their visit to the capital.

Greaves, a good-looking youngster from Canada, laid a split decision Friday night to Ralph (Tiger) Jones in a nationally televised 10-rounder.

The bout is still going on for Mintz, the veteran pilot from Pittsburgh who took charge of Greaves' fistie future last year. Irrepressible Jake is under orders to appear before the District of Columbia Boxing Commission next Monday afternoon.

Mintz climbed through the ropes Friday night and insisted on examining the scorecards before announcing Jimmy Lake could make the decision known. Jocko Miller, chairman of the commission, said Washington wasn't going to tolerate such behavior and summoned Mintz to "explain why he grabbed the slips" from Lake's hands.

Jake expressed his regrets, said he just couldn't restrain himself and tried to beg off attending the hearing because of a charity affair in Pittsburgh.

Miller said Mintz was subject to a $100 fine and possible suspension. And the hearing apparently was still on, with or without Mintz.

Newcomer Leads Fort Wayne Test

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP)—Bill Trombley of Dallas, with only six weeks' experience on the PGA championship circuit behind him, had a three-stroke cushion today at midpoint of the $15,000 Fort Wayne Open golf tourney.

Trombley added a six-under-par 66 Friday to his first round 65 for a 36-hole total of 131.

Moving up to challenge was Art Wall Jr. of Pocono Manor, Pa., the 1953 Fort Wayne Champion, who added a 64 to his first-round 70 for 134 and a second-place tie with Marty Furgol of Lemont, Ill., who had a pair of 67s.

three gambles on which the Lions ran the ball, rather than punt, on fourth down, the coach said, were called by Bainter.

Leading Braves Righthanders Go Into Slump

Milwaukee's Bulge Cut to Game as Bums Continue to Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Milwaukee Braves, reduced to one game lead once again in the hectic National League pennant race, had themselves a real worry today. Is this slump by righthanders Bob Buhl and Lew Burdette just one of those things or is it serious?

They can't hope to win the pennant without the help of that pair, yet Buhl, a 17-game winner, has failed to finish his last three starts and has lost 'em all. And Burdette, with 18 victories and seven shutouts, was battered out for the second consecutive time Friday night as the Philadelphia Phillies maltreated the leaders 13-1.

The Milwaukee loss, coupled with Brooklyn's 4-2 victory over last place Chicago, left the one-two clubs even in games lost.

The fourth place St. Louis Cardinals, who had won six in a row, lost to New York's Giants 3-0 Cincinnati, in third place, was idle.

In the American League, with New York Yankees, with Yogi Berra setting a record for career home runs by a catcher, snapped Detroit's winning streak at seven 5-1. That reduced the Yankees' "magic number" for clinching the pennant to three as second place Cleveland lost to Boston 4-3 after winning the first game of their two-night doubleheader 10-2.

The Chicago White Sox, a half-game shy of Cleveland, defeated Baltimore 3-2 in 11 innings. Washington defeated Kansas City 4-1. Burdette lasted just 3 2/3 frames as the Phils scored four in the fourth for a 7-0 lead.

Del Ennis tagged a three-run homer off reliever Lou Sleater, and little Solly Hemus then walked a grand slam homer off Dave Jolly in the sixth. In all, the Phils had 17 hits, plus eight walks. Southpaw Harvey Haddix, winning his 13th, walked none and struck out five. He gave just six hits including Del Crandall's 16th home run.

Milwaukee Manager Fred Haney protested the game during a two-run Philie second inning, but then withdrew the protest saying "we wouldn't get anywhere anyway. It was an umpire's judgment play."

The Brooks, a bunch of hitless wonders of late, got only five hits off bonus kid Moe Drabowsky. One was Sandy Amoros' 12th home run. Another was a two-out, two-run double by Carl Furillo that broke a 1-1 tie in the eighth and won the game. Furillo also scored on the play, when a relay to the plate by second baseman Gene Baker skipped into the stands.

Don Bessent won in relief, but needed Clem Labine's help in a one-run Cub ninth.

Willie Mays' 31st and 32nd home runs scored the Giants' runs while Ruben Gomez gave the Cards just five singles and fanned five. Berra's 29th home run of the season was his 257th in 11 major league seasons, cracking Gabby Hartnett's 20-season record. Bill Skowron drove in three Yankee runs to beat lefty Hal Woodeshick in his major league debut. Don Larsen won his ninth with a four-hitter.

Any combination of Yankee victories and Cleveland defeats totaling three gives New York its 22nd pennant.

Ted Williams, who homered and singled in two first-game at bats, took the league batting lead from Yankee Mickey Mantle (1-for-5) by a .353 to .351 margin with a pinch double that gave Boston a tie in the ninth inning. Sam White then singled to win it for Dave Sisler, who allowed just two hits—both in the eighth with one out.

Bobby Avila socked a grand slam homer and Chico Carrasquel had a bases-loaded double as the Tribe scored six runs in the first game sixth for Herb Score's 17th victory. The young lefty gave four hits, fanned eight.

Ron Northey's pinch single won for the White Sox—his second breakup pinch job in two days.

Ted Abernathy, just back from Louisville, gave six hits and singled home the tie-breaking run as Washington scored three in the seventh to beat the A's.

Browns To Meet Lions in Akron

AKRON (AP)—The Detroit Lions and the Cleveland Browns play an exhibition football game here tonight.

The Browns are noted for shrugging off exhibition losses as not too important, but tonight's encounter might be more hectic than the script indicates.

Last week in Detroit the Lions pasted the Browns with a 17-0 defeat, the fourth loss in a row for the Cleveland club. The Detroiters were penalized 101 yards, mostly for playing rough, and the Browns had one penalty for offside.

"This time we're not going to sit there and take it," Coach Paul Brown said Friday.

Williams Leading In AL Bat Race

CLEVELAND (AP)—Ted Williams finally has passed Mickey Mantle to take over the American League batting lead by .353 to .351 going into today's games, but with only 13 games left the veteran Boston slugger is 46 short of the 400 at bats needed to claim the title.

Williams, a four-time bat champion, hit a home run, double and single in three official at bats as the Red Sox split a two-night doubleheader with Cleveland Friday. Mantle, the young New York Yankee centerfielder who has led all season, had just a single in five trips at Detroit.

Cleveland Clings To Second Place

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians clung to second place by a half game after a split Friday night with Boston in which the Tribe did its first real hitting in a month to win 10-2 and then almost became victims of a no-hitter in losing 4-3.

Bob Avila's grand slam home run and Chico Carrasquel's two-run double, both in the sixth inning, made the opener an easy 17th victory for Herb Score who pitched a four-hitter.

But in the second game rookie Dave Sisler's fast ball held the Indians to two hits, both in the eighth inning when they scored their three runs.

In these days of big football players it is interesting to note that Tulane left halfback Willie Hof weighs a mere 144 pounds.

All Reds Need Is To Win 14, Birdie Says

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Manager Birdie Tebbets, who looks on the brighter side of things, says there's one sure way his Cincinnati Redlegs can win the National League pennant.

"We can grab the flag by winning our remaining 14 games," he said Friday. "And there's no reason to believe it can't be done."

"My guys are due for a hot hand. It's been quite a spell since we put together a winning streak of more than five games."

Birdie's charges had a day off Friday while the league-leading Milwaukee Braves were shellacked 13-1 by Philadelphia. But second place Brooklyn beat Chicago 4-2.

The action set the Braves three games ahead of the Redlegs and the Dodgers two games up.

Tebbets figures the next five days will best show how the Redlegs will finish. The Reds, who play Pittsburgh this afternoon, will have two games with Brooklyn Sunday and four in two days with Philadelphia.

Tebbets said he plans to keep using both as starters and relievers the core of his pitching staff—Joe Nuxhall, Hal Jeffcoat, Brooks Lawrence and Johnny Klippstein.

"I don't know how it will pan out," the manager said, "but right down to the wire, the pitchers who have been carrying the load will keep on doing it. They like it, they thrive on it and I'm not going to change now."

Lawrence tries his hand this afternoon against Pittsburgh's Bob Friend.

Northwestern Has Faith in Parseghian

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Miami of Ohio which gave Ohio State a winning coach in Woody Hayes now has another Big Ten mentoring delegate, Ara Parseghian, trying his football luck at hapless Northwestern.

The 33-year-old Parseghian, who succeeded Hayes at Miami in 1951 and guided the Redskins to a five-year 39-6-1 record, has one thing in his favor in his new post: The Wildcats can't go any place but up.

After the school's first winless season (0-8-1) last year capped a string of four losing campaigns in which the Wildcats won only 9 of 36 games, there were suggestions Northwestern quit the Big Ten.

But the Wildcat administration, proud of a fighting history in the conference, instead hired Purdue football coach, St. Holcomb, as athletic director with free hand to revitalize the grid setup.

Holcomb, who also had a coaching stint at Miami, wasted little time acquiring Parseghian, whose 1955 Redskins beat Northwestern 25-14. He replaced Lou Saban, who served one year in the wake of Bob Voigts, Wildcat boss eight previous seasons.

Northwestern's perennial problem has been lack of depth. It's no different this year.

Only five starters return from last year: center-capt. Ted Ringer; tackle John Smith, the squad's biggest man at 245; guards Al Viola and John Lohbauer; and quarterback Dale Pienta.

Only two second basemen have ever won the National League batting championships. They are Rogers Hornsby and Larry Doyle.

After being held to a net gain of 7 yards in the rest of the third period, they gambled twice on the fourth down and it paid off.

At the start of the last period, the Lions had the ball on the 38-yard line and, after gaining only 8 yards in three plays, were faced with fourth down and 2 to go deep in their own territory. Bainter took a chance and handed off to Evans who wriggled through the middle for a first down with 3 yards to spare.

After three plays had gained only 8 yards to the 47, the Lions again were faced with a fourth down and 2 yards to go. And, again Capt. Bainter gambled and sent McLean through guard. For the third time, the Lions made the gamble pay.

From there on they went down the field to a touchdown with the help of a couple of spectacular wide end sweeps by Bainter, one for 28 yards to the 17-yard line. Evans took it to the 14-yard line and on the next play Bainter went over with the Panthers far behind him.

AFTER THE Lion kickoff, the Panthers drove to the 44-yard line where Dick Noe, the Panther speed merchant, fumbled and McLean recovered. That was the turning point in the game.

A fourth Lion touchdown was scored by the clock. The final gun sounded just as the ball was snapped on the one yard line. After McLean recovered that fumble, the Lions marched steadily downfield over a demoralized Panther squad.

The Lions tried two passes, and completed each of them, one for 28 yards and a touchdown by Brown and the other for 24 yards to set up McLean's scoring dash.

The Panthers made passes, two of them jump passes over the line and the other for 13 yards.

Head Coach Fred Domenico of the Lions was beaming with pride after the game. He was liberal with praise of the boys as he said "that's what I meant when I said they had heart."

He also passed along some of the credit to Backfield Coach Dick Filbin, who analyzed the play from the press box and telephoned a word picture of the game, step by step, to Domenico on the bench.

"Filbin called the pass that brought the Lions their first touchdown," Domenico revealed. It was sent in to Capt. Bainter by a substitute. This was the only play sent in, he said, although four suggestions were made.

All the rest of the game was called by Bainter, he added. The

Fight Pilot Mintz Just Lost Control

WASHINGTON (AP)—To the folks back in Pittsburgh: Jake Mintz and his "new sensation," middleweight Willie Greaves, are not having a wonderful time on their visit to the capital.

Greaves, a good-looking youngster from Canada, lost a split decision Friday night to Ralph (Tiger) Jones in a nationally televised 10-rounder.

The bout is still going on for Mintz, the veteran pilot from Pittsburgh who took charge of Greaves' fight last year. Irrepressible Jake is under orders to appear before the District of Columbia Boxing Commission next Monday afternoon.

Mintz climbed through the ropes Friday night and insisted on examining the scorecards before announcing Jimmy Lake could make the decision known. Jocko Miller, chairman of the commission, said Washington wasn't going to tolerate such behavior and summoned Mintz to "explain why he grabbed the slips" from Lake's hands.

Jake expressed his regrets, said he just couldn't restrain himself and tried to beg off attending the hearing because of a charity affair in Pittsburgh.

Miller said Mintz was subject to a $100 fine and possible suspension. And the hearing apparently was still on, with or without Mintz.

Newcomer Leads Fort Wayne Test

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP)—Bill Trombley of Dallas, with only six weeks' experience on the PGA championship circuit behind him, had a three-stroke cushion today at the midpoint of the $15,000 Fort Wayne Open golf tourney.

Trombley added a six-under-par 66 Friday to his first round 65 for a 36-hole total of 131.

Moving up to challenge was Art Wall Jr. of Pocono Manor, Pa., the 1953 Fort Wayne Champion, who added a 64 to his first-round 70 for 134 and a second-place tie with Marty Furgol of Lemont, Ill., who had a pair of 67s.

Three gambles on which the Lions ran the ball, rather than punt, on fourth down, the coach said, were called by Bainter.

Leading Braves Righthanders Go Into Slump

Milwaukee's Bulge Cut to Game as Bums Continue to Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Milwaukee Braves, reduced to one game lead once again in the hectic National League pennant race, had themselves a real worry today. Is this slump by righthanders, Bob Buhl and Lew Burdette just one of those things or is it serious?

They can't hope to win the pennant without the help of that pair, yet Buhl, a 17-game winner, has failed to finish his last three starts and has lost 'em all. And Burdette, with 18 victories and seven shutouts, was battered out for the second consecutive time Friday night as the Philadelphia Phillies maltreated the leaders 13-1.

The Milwaukee loss, coupled with Brooklyn's 4-2 victory over last place Chicago, left the one-two clubs even in games lost.

The fourth place St. Louis Cardinals, who had won six in a row, lost to New York's Giants 3-0 Cincinnati, in third place, was idle.

In the American League, the New York Yankees, with Yogi Berra setting a record for career home runs by a catcher, snapped Detroit's winning streak at seven 5-1. That reduced the Yankees' "magic number" for clinching the pennant to three as second place Cleveland lost to Boston 4-3 after winning the first game of their two-night doubleheader 10-2.

The Chicago White Sox, a half-game shy of Cleveland, defeated Baltimore 3-2 in 11 innings. Washington defeated Kansas City 4-1. Burdette lasted just 3 2-3 frames as the Phils scored four in the fourth for a 7-0 lead.

Del Ennis tagged a three-run homer off reliever Lou Sleater, and little Solly Hemus then walloped a grand slam homer off Dave Jolly in the sixth. In all, the Phils had 17 hits, plus eight walks. Southpaw Harvey Haddix, winning his 13th, walked none and struck out five. He gave just six hits including Del Crandall's 16th home run.

Milwaukee Manager Fred Haney protested the game during a two-run Philie second inning, but then withdrew the protest saying "we wouldn't get anywhere anyway. It was an umpire's judgment play."

The Brooks, a bunch of hitless wonders of late, got only five hits off bonus kid Moe Drabowsky. One was Sandy Amoros' 12th home run. Another was a two-out, two-run double by Carl Furillo that broke a 1-1 tie in the eighth and won the game. Furillo also scored on the play, when a relay to the plate by second baseman Gene Baker skipped into the stands.... Don Bessent won in relief, but needed Clem Labine's help in a one-run Cub ninth.

Willie Mays' 31st and 32nd home runs scored the Giants' runs while Ruben Gomez gave the Cards just five singles and fanned five.

Berra's 29th home run of the season was his 237th in 11 major league seasons, cracking Gabby Hartnett's 20-season record. Bill Skowron drove in three Yankee runs to beat lefty Hal Woodeshick in his major league debut. Don Larsen won his ninth with a four-hitter.

Any combination of Yankee victories and Cleveland defeats totaling three gives New York its 22nd pennant.

Ted Williams, who homered and singled in two first-game at bats, took the league batting lead from Yankee Mickey Mantle (1-for-5) by a .353 to .351 margin with a pinch double that gave Boston a tie in the ninth inning. Sam White then singled to win it for Dave Sisler, who allowed just two hits—both in the eighth with one out.

Bobby Avila socked a grand slam homer and Chico Carrasquel had a bases-loaded double as the Tribe scored six runs in the first game sixth for Herb Score's 17th victory. The young lefty gave four hits, fanned eight.

Ron Northey's pinch single won for the White Sox—his second breakup pinch job in two days.

Ted Abernathy, just back from Louisville, gave six hits and singled home the tie-breaking run as Washington scored three in the seventh to beat the A's.

Two SCO Teams Win Friday Night Openers

Two of the five teams in the Southcentral Ohio (SCO) League came up with victories in their opening games of the football season Friday night.

Probably the biggest upset of

Browns To Meet Lions in Akron

AKRON (AP)—The Detroit Lions and the Cleveland Browns play an exhibition football game here tonight.

The Browns are noted for shrugging off exhibition losses as not too important, but tonight's encounter might be more hectic than the script indicates.

Last week in Detroit the Lions pasted the Browns with a 17-0 defeat, the fourth loss in a row for the Cleveland club. The Detroiters were penalized 101 yards, mostly for playing rough, and the Browns had one penalty for offside.

"This time we're not going to sit there and take it," Coach Paul Brown said Friday.

Williams Leading In AL Bat Race

CLEVELAND (AP)—Ted Williams finally has passed Mickey Mantle to take over the American League batting lead by .353 to .351 going into today's games, but with only 13 games left the veteran Boston slugger is 46 short of the 400 at bats needed to claim the title.

Williams, a four-time bat champion, hit a home run, double and single in three official at bats as the Red Sox split a two-night doubleheader with Cleveland Friday. Mantle, the young New York Yankee centerfielder who has led all season, had just a single in five trips at Detroit.

Cleveland Clings To Second Place

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians clung to second place by a half game after a split Friday night with Boston in which the Tribe did its first real hitting in a month to win 10-2 and then almost became victims of a no-hitter in losing 4-3.

Bob Avila's grand slam home run and Chico Carrasquel's two-run double, both in the sixth inning, made the opener an easy 17th victory for Herb Score who pitched a four-hitter.

But in the second game rookie Dave Sisler's fast ball held the Indians to two hits, both in the eighth inning when they scored their three runs.

In these days of big football players it is interesting to note that Tulane left halfback Willie Hof weighs a mere 144 pounds.

the evening was the 20 to 13 victory of the Lions of Washington C. H. High School over the Panthers from Linden McKinley High School in Columbus.

Wilmington's Hurricane romped to a decisive 39 to 13 win over the Franklin boys.

Defeats were handed the other three SCO team, but they all were by narrow margins.

Greenfield's Tigers suffered the heart-breaker when they were edged, 7 to 6, by Jackson's Ironmen. Circleville's Tigers also lost a close one when the Athens boys took a 13 to 7 decision. Even in defeat, the Circlevilleans showed all the earmarks of being a contender for SCO honors, because Athens High School has been in the habit of turning out good football teams year after year.

Hillsboro's Indians were the only SCO team to be shut out, but it put up a defense that held the West Carrollton outfit to a lone touchdown and extra point in losing, 7 to 0.

Scores of some of the other high school games throughout the state were:

All Reds Need Is To Win 14, Birdie Says

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Manager Birdie Tebbets, who looks on the brighter side of things, says there's one sure way his Cincinnati Redlegs can win the National League pennant.

"We can grab the flag by winning our remaining 14 games," he said Friday. "And there's no reason to believe it can't be done."

"My guys are due for a hot hand. It's been quite a spell since we put together a winning streak of more than five games."

Birdie's charges had a day off Friday while the league-leading Milwaukee Braves were shelled 13-1 by Philadelphia. But second place Brooklyn beat Chicago 4-2.

The action set the Braves three games ahead of the Redlegs and the Dodgers two games up.

Tebbetts figures the next five days will best show how the Redlegs will finish. The Reds, who play Pittsburgh this afternoon, will have two games with Brooklyn Sunday and four in two days with Philadelphia.

Tebbetts said he plans to keep using both as starters and relievers the core of his pitching staff—Joe Nuxhall, Hal Jeffcoat, Brooks Lawrence and Johnny Klipstein.

"I don't know how it will pan out," the manager said, "but right down to the wire, the pitchers who have been carrying the load will keep on doing it. They like it, they thrive on it and I'm not going to change now."

Lawrence tries his hand this afternoon against Pittsburgh's Bob Friend.

Board and Room

By Gene Ahern

Long, Hard Winter Faces This Couple

TOLEDO (AP)—Looking ahead to a long, cold winter? Consider the outlook for an Adrian, Mich., couple:

On a 50-foot yacht with luxuries right down to television and wall-to-wall carpeting, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Engel left the Toledo Yacht Club Friday on a six-month, 6,000-mile cruise that will include the West Indies.

The Engels expect to reach Chicago next Tuesday. The Chicago River, the Illinois River and the Mississippi River will float them to the Gulf of Mexico.

Engel owns the Oro Manufacturing Co., a metal fabricating firm with plants in Adrian and St. Mary's, Ohio.

Siren Calls Voters

BRUNSWICK, Neb. (AP)—Voters turned out in bigger numbers than usual to ballot in a town election. One reason was the fire siren at the city hall was short circuited and blew for several minutes. People hurried to the City Hall to find out what was wrong, stayed to vote.

Long, Hard Winter Faces This Couple

TOLEDO (U)—Looking ahead to a long, cold winter? Consider the outlook for an Adrian, Mich., couple:

On a 50-foot yacht with luxuries right down to television and wall-to-wall carpeting, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Engel left the Toledo Yacht Club Friday on a six-month, 6,000-mile cruise that will include the West Indies.

The Engels expect to reach Chicago next Tuesday. The Chicago River, the Illinois River and the Mississippi River will float them to the Gulf of Mexico.

Siren Calls Voters

BRUNSWICK, Neb. (U)— Voters turned out in bigger numbers than usual to ballot in a town election. One reason was the fire siren at the city hall was short circuited and blew for several minutes. People hurried to the City Hall to find out what was wrong, stayed to vote.

2 Change Pleas In Court Here

Confessed Burglars Taken To Reformatory

Two of the three men who had admitted burglarizing the Washington Wrecking Yards office, but pleaded innocent Friday morning when arraigned on the indictments in Common Pleas Court, changed their minds later in the day and pleaded guilty. They are Lester Shoemaker and Robert L. Williams.

Judge John P. Case sentenced both of them to the state reformatory for one to 15 years. They, along with Carroll Bennett, were taken to that institution by Sheriff Orlando Hays, early Saturday.

Bennett had entered a plea of guilty to a forgery charge.

Billy Strausbaugh, who pleaded innocent to a charge of forgery when arraigned Friday, later announced his readiness to plead guilty and was to be brought before Judge Case Saturday morning.

Fleeing Man, 31, Killed in Fall; Wife Is Bitter

CLEVELAND (AP)—From a third-story apartment window here Robert Lively, 31, jumped to his death on a concrete drive as police prepared to arrest him Friday night for fleeing jail at Tazewell, Va.

His wife, Betty, who watched helplessly as Lively stepped from the window when a detective entered the back door, said:

"They were trying to make a criminal out of him."

She said he was a "good husband" who never had been in trouble before he was picked up in Tazewell and accused of possessing a weapon and burglar tools. He climbed out of a washroom at the jail there last Saturday and fled back to Cleveland, his home for the last three years.

Mrs. Lively said the "burglar tools" her husband had with him on a trip to visit his 61-year-old mother in Meadowbridge, Va., last July 22 were tools of his trade, a machinist. The pistol he carried then, she said, was purchased on a telephone line, which in turn

Two Drunk Drivers Are Picked Up Here

Two men charged with driving while drunk were picked up by the police around midnight Friday.

They were James F. Swayne, 58, of 819 Sycamore St. and Philip James Brannon, 40, city.

Also arrested were Virgil Boggs, 19, of 813 John Street, who was picked up on a bench warrant for failure to pay the remainder of a fine and costs amounting to $48.20. He is to pay or serve the fine out in jail.

Charles E. Cox, 20, city, was cited for running a stop sign, and Jeff Franklin Coker, 33, truck-driver, Collinsville, Ala., posted $20 bail on an excessive noise charge.

One plain drunk also was locked up.

All are to appear later in Municipal Court.

Election Board To Be Represented

A spokesman for the Fayette County Board of Elections stated Saturday that the board would be represented at the Ohio Election Officials Conference at Cincinnati on Sept. 27, 28 and 29, but that it was uncertain whether all the board could attend.

The meeting was called by Secretary of State Ted W. Brown, for a general discussion and consideration of matters pertaining to the administration of the November 6 election as well as other election matters in general.

Former Governor Myers Y. Cooper and Secretary of State Brown will address the business sessions and Charles Sawyer, Cincinnati attorney and former U. S. Ambassador to Belgium and later U. S. Secretary of Commerce will be principal banquet speaker.

There are 65,000 sawmills in the U. S.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Black, Route 2, are the parents of a five pound, three ounce son, born in Memorial Hospital, Friday at 9:10 p. m.

A daughter, weighing seven pounds, three ounces, was born in Memorial Hospital Saturday at 5:11 a. m. to Mr. and Mrs. James Henry, 367 Comfort Lane.

The daughter, born Saturday at 12:33 a. m., to Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Root of New Holland, in Memorial Hospital, weighed seven pounds thirteen ounces.

Rug Was Ablaze, Firemen Called

Firemen Friday were called to the G. N. Gillett home, 750 High St. where a rug had caught fire from a floor furnace, filling the house with smoke.

The burning rug was carried out and the firemen were back at headquarters within 20 minutes.

Denison Benefits

GRANVILLE (AP)—Denison University received $1,064,058 in gifts during the fiscal year ended July 31, the greatest amount ever donated to the institution in a similar period, President A. Blair Knapp announced today.

Greenfield Man Takes Own Life

Edward L. Green Shoots Self at Home

Edward L. Green, 72, the father of 13 children shot himself in the head with a 12 gauge shotgun in the back yard of his home in Greenfield at 5 p. m. Friday.

Dr. J. Martin Byers, the coroner, gave a verdict of suicide following an investigation.

Officials said they had learned of no reason for his act. Members of his family, they said, told them he had shown no signs of illness or despondency to which his suicide could be attributed. No note left by him was found.

Mrs. Green was sitting on the front porch of their home reading a newspaper when she heard the shot. Officers said she told them she had been talking with him not more than five minutes before and that he appeared to be his usual self.

One of his daughters, Mrs. Herbert Sowards, 703 S. Fayette St., is employed at Memorial Hospital.

Funeral arrangements, in charge of the Wiley Funeral Home in Sinking Springs, have not been completed.

Man Electrocuted By Power Line

NEWARK (AP)—Wayne Yantes, 28, of nearby Alexandria used a yard stick to try to move a power line that had fallen across a county road one mile west of Alexandria Friday. He was electrocuted when the line, carrying 4,200 volts, fell across his back.

The State Highway Patrol said a storm brought a tree limb down on telephone line, which in turn brought the power line down. Yantes had stopped his car because the road was partially blocked.

'Democrat' Label To Stay on Ballot

COLUMBUS (AP)—Secretary of State Ted W. Brown has received a request to change the party designation of candidates on Ohio's Nov. 6 election ballot from "Democrat" to "Democratic."

The request came from Harry R. Meredith of Lima, chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee.

Brown said it was too late to change wording of the official ballot since to do so might prevent members of the armed forces from voting in November.

Foster Man Killed

LEBANON (AP)—A loaded gravel truck went off Stubbs Mill Road about four miles south of here Friday, killing the driver, Bernard E. Siebert, 39, of near Foster. The truck struck a stump.

Sparkling Show Put on By WHS Varsity Band Under Its New Director

A halftime show that brought round after round of applause was put on by the Washington C. H. Varsity marching band at Friday night's football game at Gardner Park here when the Lions beat Linden McKinley's Panthers, 20 to 13.

It was the band's first appearance under the direction of its new director, Bob Neumann, and it did him and itself proud.

Since the Linden McKinley band did not come with the team, the WHS Band had the entire halftime to put on its entertainment, a story of life in the Blue Ridge Mountains of Virginia carried out with formations to the tunes of selected hillbilly music.

Using the same quick-step cadence that has helped bring it wide recognition, the band marched onto the field from the west end in a box formation and straight lines.

Eagle Scout Splits Reward Two Ways

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP)—Eagle Scout John R. Gibbud, 19, found a wallet with $300 in it. He returned it to Oscar L. Bolin, 42, a real estate man.

Bolin rewarded the youth with a check for $50. Gibbud asked Bolin to make out two $25 checks instead of one for $50. He said he'd use one of the checks to buy books when he registers as a freshman at the University of Miami. The other $25 check was made out to his Boy Scout troop because "they need the money for tents."

Girl Decapitated In Train Accident

CINCINNATI (AP)—A Cincinnati-bound passenger train struck and decapitated 10-year-old Patricia Ann Miller Friday afternoon as she was gathering coal along the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks near Plainville home.

Train fireman George Loring, 40, said the girl "ran to pick up a bucket in which she was gathering coal and then stumbled into the path of the train."

Hobbyists Hold Meeting Friday

Many Interesting Things Exhibited

The Friday night meeting of the Fayette County Hobby Club was held Friday night in City Hall, instead of at the shelter house at Washington Park because of the rain.

Approximately 30 members and guests were present for the elaborate carry-in supper, which is always a feature of the meetings. A business session followed the supper.

Nathaniel Tway reported on the presentation of a program before the Fayette County Nurse's Association and Mrs. B. E. Kelley told about the Gem City Hobby Club show last Sunday at the Van Cleve Hotel in Dayton, which was attended by several members of the club here.

Little Lorena Harrop entertained the members with a song and recitation.

The interesting exhibits displayed and information given concerning them, included: petrified wood from Arizona, picture and plate of Archibald Willard's "Spirit of '76", two old German mugs, square-headed iron nails removed from an old building in Washington C. H. recently, old door latch and lock, Indian relics, etc.

Final Tributes Paid James F. Thomas

Funeral services were held for Mr. James F. Thomas, 83, at 2 p. m. Friday in the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home.

The Rev. Edward Gray read the Scriptures, offered prayer and read a personal tribute written by Mrs. Margaret Easton.

Mrs. Louise Foster sang the hymn "Precious Lord," with Mrs. Gladys Johns at the piano; Mrs. Easton sang "Last Mile of the Way" and Mrs. Margaret Woodson sang "Beyond the Sunset." Then the three women joined together in singing "Nearer My God To Thee."

The pallbearers, who cared for the flowers were Frank Marvin, Charles Whitmore, Stuart Quan, Arnold Scott, Osie Hughes and Frank Sanders.

Hurricane Diane in 1955 was followed by equally severe floods in New England.

2 Change Pleas In Court Here

Confessed Burglars Taken To Reformatory

Two of the three men who had admitted burglarizing the Washington Wrecking Yards office, but pleaded innocent Friday morning when arraigned on the indictments in Common Pleas Court, changed their minds later in the day and pleaded guilty. They are Lester Shoemaker and Robert L. Williams.

Judge John P. Case sentenced both of them to the state reformatory for one to 15 years. They, along with Carroll Bennett, were taken to that institution by Sheriff Orland Hays, early Saturday.

Bennett had entered a plea of guilty to a forgery charge.

Billy Strausbaugh, who pleaded innocent to a charge of forgery when arraigned Friday, later announced his readiness to plead guilty and was to be brought before Judge Case Saturday morning.

Fleeing Man, 31, Killed in Fall; Wife Is Bitter

CLEVELAND (AP)—From a third-story apartment window here Robert Lively, 31, jumped to his death on a concrete drive as police prepared to arrest him Friday night for fleeing jail at Tazewell, Va.

His wife, Betty, who watched helplessly as Lively stepped from the window when a detective entered the back door, said:

"They were trying to make a criminal out of him."

She said he was a "good husband" who never had been in trouble before he was picked up in Tazewell and accused of possessing a weapon and burglar tools. He climbed out of a washroom at the jail there last Saturday and fled back to Cleveland, his home for the last three years.

Mrs. Lively said the "burglar tools" her husband had with him on a trip to visit his 61-year-old mother in Meadowbridge, Va., last July 22 were tools of his trade, a machinist. The pistol he carried then, she said, was purchased on a telephone line, which in turn

Two Drunk Drivers Are Picked Up Here

Two men charged with driving while drunk were picked up by the police around midnight Friday.

They were James F. Swaine, 58, of 819 Sycamore St. and Philip James Brannon, 40, city.

Also arrested were Virgil Boggs, 19, of 813 John Street, who was picked up on a bench warrant for failure to pay the remainder of a fine and costs amounting to $48.20. He is to pay or serve the fine out in jail.

Charles E. Cox, 20, city, was cited for running a stop sign, and Jeff Franklin Coker, 33, truck driver, Collinsville, Ala., posted $20 bail on an excessive noise charge.

One plain drunk also was locked up.

All are to appear later in Municipal Court.

Election Board To Be Represented

A spokesman for the Fayette County Board of Elections stated Saturday that the board would be represented at the Ohio Election Officials Conference at Cincinnati on Sept. 27, 28 and 29, but that it was uncertain whether all the board could attend.

The meeting was called by Secretary of State Ted W. Brown, for a general discussion and consideration of matters pertaining to the administration of the November 6 election as well as other election matters in general.

Former Governor Myers Y. Cooper and Secretary of State Brown will address the business sessions and Charles Sawyer, Cincinnati attorney and former U. S. Ambassador to Belgium and later U. S. Secretary of Commerce will be principal banquet speaker.

Greenfield Man Takes Own Life

Edward L. Green Shoots Self at Home

Edward L. Green, 72, the father of 13 children shot himself in the head with a 12 gauge shotgun in the back yard of his home in Greenfield at 5 p. m. Friday.

Dr. J. Martin Byers, the coroner, gave a verdict of suicide following an investigation.

Officials said they had learned of no reason for his act. Members of his family, they said, told them he had shown no signs of illness or despondency to which his suicide could be attributed. No note left by him was found.

Mrs. Green was sitting on the front porch of their home reading a newspaper when she heard the shot. Officers said she told them she had been talking with him not more than five minutes before and that he appeared to be his usual self.

One of his daughters, Mrs. Herbert Sowards, 703 S. Fayette St., is employed at Memorial Hospital.

Funeral arrangements, in charge of the Wiley Funeral Home in Sinking Springs, have not been completed.

Man Electrocuted By Power Line

NEWARK (AP)—Wayne Yantes, 28, of nearby Alexandria used a yard stick to try to move a power line that had fallen across a county road one mile west of Alexandria Friday. He was electrocuted when the line, carrying 4,200 volts, fell across his back.

The State Highway Patrol said a storm brought a tree limb down on telephone line, which in turn brought the power line down.

Yantes had stopped his car because the road was partially blocked.

'Democrat' Label To Stay on Ballot

COLUMBUS (AP)—Secretary of State Ted W. Brown has received a request to change the party designation of candidates on Ohio's Nov. 6 election ballot from "Democrat" to "Democratic."

The request came from Harry R. Meredith of Lima, chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee.

Brown said it was too late to change wording of the official ballot since to do so might prevent members of the armed forces from voting in November.

Foster Man Killed

Sparkling Show Put on By WHS Varsity Band Under Its New Director

A halftime show that brought out after round of applause was put on by the Washington C. H. Varsity marching band at Friday night's football game at Gardner Park here when the Lions beat Linden McKinley's Panthers, 20 to 13.

It was the band's first appearance under the direction of its new director, Bob Neumann, and it did him and itself proud.

Since the Linden McKinley band did not come with the team, the WHS Band had the entire halftime to put on its entertainment, a story of life in the Blue Ridge Mountains of Virginia carried out with formations to the tunes of selected hill-billy music.

Using the same quick-step cadence that has helped bring it wide recognition, the band marched onto the field from the west end in a box formation and straight lines.

After forming the letters L M C to play the Linden McKinley fight

Sparkling Show Put on By WHS Varsity Band Under Its New Director

song, the band swung into the program's theme song of "Trail of the Lonesome Pine" as it formed a log cabin with Pa McCoy (Sherill Elliott) and his daughter Lucy (Ann McDonald) inside—all diked out in typical hillbilly clothes.

AS THE ANNOUNCER narrated the story, Lucy pulled on her shoes while the band played "Put Your Shoes on Lucy."

Playing the theme song again, the band shifted into the outlines of an old mountaineer's rifle while the narrator repeated Lucy's question of "What did you bring me Elmer?" Elmer, Lucy's boy friend (Ronnie Coffman) brought her the rifle. It even fired a bullet in the person of Jean Ducey.

Playing "In the Still of the Night," the band formed a big still so Pa McCoy could entertain Elmer and then it moved into the outlines of a wagon, complete with moving wheels and the marjorettes as the horses, to take the McCoy's and Elmer to town.

They wound up a sparkling show and the band played the WHS Alma Mater in its big W formation and marched off the field as the near capacity crowd cheered this first performance of the year and the first under the new director.

The band was made up of 94 pieces, seven majorettes and the drum major, 102 boys and girls in all. There were 105 in last year's band.

Ohio Hog Prices Show Decline

COLUMBUS (AP)—An increase in the number of hogs being marketed as well as a wholesale price slash necessary on fresh port items to bring volume movement forced live hog prices down this week.

The Ohio Department of Agriculture reported prices received by farmers at interior markets this week averaged 43 cents lower than last.

The market average Monday of $15.75 per hundredweight was 25 cents lower than last week's close and remained steady through Wednesday. Another 25 cent drop Thursday set the lowest price since May 8, but the price rebounded Friday to $15.75.

Hobbyists Hold Meeting Friday

Many Interesting Things Exhibited

The Friday night meeting of the Fayette County Hobby Club was held Friday night in City Hall, instead of at the shelter house at Washington Park because of the rain.

Approximately 30 members and guests were present for the elaborate carry-in supper, which is always a feature of the meetings. A business session followed the supper.

Nathaniel Tway reported on the presentation of a program before the Fayette County Nurse's Association and Mrs. B. E. Kelley told about the Gem City Hobby Club show last Sunday at the Van Cleve Hotel in Dayton, which was attended by several members of the club here.

Little Lorena Harrop entertained the members with a song and recitation.

The interesting exhibits displayed and information given concerning them, included: petrified wood from Arizona, a picture and plate of Archibald Willard's "Spirit of '76", two old German mugs, square-headed iron nails removed from an old building in Washington C. H. recently, old door latch and lock, Indian relics, etc.

Final Tributes Paid James F. Thomas

Funeral services were held for Mr. James F. Thomas, 83, at 2 p. m. Friday in the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home.

The Rev. Edward Gray read the Scriptures, offered prayer and read a personal tribute written by Mrs. Margaret Easton.

Mrs. Louise Foster sang the hymn "Precious Lord," with Mrs. Gladys Johns at the piano; Mrs. Easton sang "Last Mile of the Way" and Mrs. Margaret Woodson sang "Beyond the Sunset." Then the three women joined together in singing "Nearer My God To Thee."

The pallbearers, who cared for the flowers were Frank Marvin, Charles Whitmore, Stuart Quinn, Arnold Scott, Osie Hughes and Frank Sanders.

Hurricane Diane in 1955 was followed by equally severe floods in New England.
